Taboo Topics Norman L. Farberow, 2013-12-30 Why is it so hard to investigate taboo topics A myriad of forces shape and fashion human action reaction thought and feeling and these are not always well understood Norman L Farberow argues that culture itself provides structure for its members developing in a well defined way the rules to which they will conform Such rules find expression not only in written laws and regulations but include and most often stem from unwritten folkways customs and especially taboos the subject of this book The researchers reporting in this volume take no position on the nature of a taboo itself but concentrate on the difficulty in investigating taboos As members of society and human beings they do make judgments and personal investments Thus when taboos continue or develop without useful society enriching functions or facilitate self destructive activities they raise questions about why they persist Such topics include many areas some social such as sex death and peace others more academic such as parapsychology graphology religion and hypnosis Peace and the public are included in the discussion because they are emotion laden areas and powerful and important factors in a shrinking world and expanding universe Peace especially has begun to be looked upon with suspicion perhaps a real commentary on our times This probing collection will be sure to interest sociologists anthropologists and all other social scientists

Handbook of Interpersonal Communication Gerd Antos, Eija Ventola, 2008-12-10 Interpersonal communication IC is a continuous game between the interacting interactants It is a give and take a continuous dynamic flow that is linguistically realized as discourse as an on going sequence of interactants moves Interpersonal communication is produced and interpreted by acting linguistically and this makes it a fascinating research area The handbook Interpersonal Communication examines how interactants manage to exchange facts ideas views opinions beliefs emotion etc by using the linguistic systems and the resources they offer In interpersonal communication the fine tuning of individuals use of the linguistic resources is continuously probed The language used in interpersonal communication enhances social relations between interactants and keeps the interaction on the normal track When interaction gets off the track linguistic miscommunication may also destroy social relationships This volume is essentially concerned with this fine tuning in discourse and how it is achieved among various interactant groups The volume departs from the following fundamental questions How do interpersonal relations manifest themselves in language What is the role of language in developing and maintaining relationships in interpersonal communication What types of problems occur in interpersonal communication and what kind of strategies and means are used to solve them How does linguistically realized interpersonal communication interact with other semiotic modes Interpersonal communication is seen and researched from the perspective of what is being said or written and how it is realized in various generic forms The current research also gives attention to other semiotic modes which interact with the linguistic modes It is not just the social roles of interactants in groups the possible media available the non verbal behaviors the varying contextual frames for communication but primarily the actual linguistic manifestations that we need to focus upon when we want to have a full picture of what is going on in human interpersonal communication. It is this linguistic perspective that the volume aims to present to all researchers interested in IC. The volume offers an overview of the theories, methods, tools, and resources of linguistically oriented approaches, e.g., from the fields of linguistics, social psychology, sociology, and semiotics, for the purpose of integration and further development of the interests in IC. Topics, e.g., Orientation to interaction as primarily linguistically realized processes; Expertise on theorizing and analyzing cultural and situational contexts where linguistic processes are realized; Expertise on handling language corpora; Expertise on theorizing and analyzing interaction types as genres; Orientation to an integrated view of linguistic and non-linguistic participant activities and of how interactants generate meanings and interact with space; Expertise on researching the management of the linguistic flow in interaction and its successfulness.

The Journey of a Dead Hero. Death in the film "Lucky Number Slevin" Sarah Weichbrodt, 2021-09-28 Seminar paper from the year 2021 in the subject Communications Movies and Television grade 1.0 University of Mannheim Philosophische Fakultät course Narration im Film Narration in Film language English abstract This term paper analyzes the importance of death in the film Lucky Number Slevin McGuigan 2006 While an initial killing is the trigger for the story itself the film also features a complex main character who is already dead or more specifically never existed It will be argued that the trinity of Henry's systemic death the symbolic death nonexistence of Slevin and Nick's literal death who are all unified as one person in the body of Henry affect and represent the archetype of the hero and the hero's journey Through the non existence of the hero himself the story deviates from a traditional hero's journey and functions as the introduction to a tale of a hero that needs to be created and freed of his past first to be able to set out on his own journey The traditional hero's journey according to Vogler follows a relatively strict pattern The characters met during the story can be classified as different archetypes and play a specific role in guiding the hero towards their goal However while the principle can be applied to almost every story some criteria must always be fulfilled for the concept to work One of the main aspects is that the hero of the story must be alive Death plays a crucial role in many cultures and hence in many films and other forms of media When death is presented in a film it always plays a vital role in the narrative Taboo Topics Norman L.
