Time Consciousness:

Memory in the Ontopoiesis of Life Anna-Teresa Tymieniecka, 2009-09-30 From Aristotle to the present memory has been grasped as a trace or impression of lost reality bridging physiological experience and consciousness Philosophers have vainly sought the nature of this bridge The present day physiologizing naturalizing of consciousness is not resolving their congenital continuity in which the very existence and practice of life is rooted We have to change our approach Erwin Straus The Aristotelian congenital ties between memory and temporality acquire crucial significance in our primogenital onto-poiesis of life Tymieniecka It reveals memory to be the factor that carries this coalescence and the becoming of life itself This can be the fruit only of the generative springs of life first phenomenology philosophy the onto-poietic logos of life In this collection we explore memory in the constitution of reality remembering and interpretation consciousness action facts imagination history myths self realization metamorphosis Japanese and Western Phenomenology Philip Blosser, 1993-01-31 This volume has been developed from the first extensive meeting of Japanese and Western phenomenologists which was sponsored by the Center for Advanced Research in Phenomenology Inc and the Phenomenological Association of Japan and held in Santa City Chiefly philosophical and chiefly concerned with Husserl's thought it also shows links with several human sciences and such figures as Wilhelm Dilthey Eugen Fink Martin Heidegger Max Scheler Alfred Schutz and well as with Zen and the Japanese tradition in phenomenology which is second only to the German in age and has recently blossomed anew Further such meetings have occurred and are planning building upon this foundation Pre-reflective Consciousness Sofia Miguens, Gerhard Preyer, Clara Bravo Morando, 2015-10-16 Pre-reflective Consciousness Sartre and Contemporary Philosophy of Mind delves into the relationship between the current analytical debates on consciousness and the debates that took place within continental philosophy in the twentieth century and in particular around the time of Sartre and within his seminal works Examining the return of the problem of subjectivity in philosophy of mind and the idea that phenomenal consciousness could not be reduced to functional or cognitive properties this volume includes twenty two unique contributions from leading scholars in the field Asking questions such as Why we should think that self-consciousness is non-reflective Is subjectivity first personal Does consciousness necessitate self-awareness Do we need pre-reflective self-consciousness Are ego disorders in psychosis a dysfunction of pre-reflective self-awareness How does the Cartesian duality between body and mind fit into Sartre's conceptions of consciousness The Oxford Handbook of the History of Phenomenology Dan Zahavi, 2018-06-04 This Oxford Handbook offers a broad critical survey of the development of phenomenology one of the main streams of philosophy since the nineteenth century It comprises thirty seven specially written chapters by leading figures in the field which highlight historical influences connections and developments and offer a better comprehension and assessment of the continuity as well as diversity of the phenomenological tradition The handbook is divided into three distinct parts The first part addresses the way phenomenology has been influenced by earlier periods or figures in the history of philosophy The second part contains chapters targeting prominent phenomenologists How was their work affected by earlier figures how did their own views change over time and what kind of influence did they exert on subsequent thinkers The contributions in the third part trace various core topics such as subjectivity intersubjectivity embodiment spatiality imagination etc in the work of different phenomenologists in order to explore how the notions were transformed enriched and expanded up through the century This volume will be a source of insight for philosophers students of philosophy and for people working in other disciplines of the humanities social sciences and sciences who are interested in the phenomenological tradition It is an authoritative guide to how phenomenology started how it developed and where it is heading science This book will be of particular interest to research scholars and post graduate students in the areas of Philosophy and Social Sciences as well as those interested in contemporary Western Philosophy and the history and development of Ideas

Mind Time Benjamin Libet, 2009-07 Our subjective inner life is what really matters to us as human beings and yet we know relatively little about how it arises Over a long and distinguished career Benjamin Libet has conducted experiments that have helped us see in clear and concrete ways how the brain produces conscious awareness For the first time Libet gives his own account of these experiments and their importance for our understanding of consciousness Most notably Libet's experiments reveal a substantial delay the mind time of the title before any awareness affects how we view our mental activities If all conscious awarenesses are preceded by unconscious processes as Libet observes we are forced to conclude that unconscious processes initiate our conscious experiences Freely voluntary acts are found to be initiated unconsciously before an awareness of wanting to act a discovery with profound ramifications for our understanding of free will How do the physical activities of billions of cerebral nerve cells give rise to an integrated conscious subjective awareness How can the subjective mind affect or control voluntary actions Libet considers these questions as well as the implications of his discoveries for the nature of the soul the identity of the person and the relation of the non physical subjective mind to the physical brain that produces it Rendered in clear accessible language Libet's experiments and theories will allow interested amateurs and experts alike to share the experience of the extraordinary discoveries made in the practical study of consciousness
