The Female Consumer Rosemary Scott, 1976      The Myth of the Female Consumer Behavior Research Institute, 1969*      The Female Consumer in the 21st Century, 2013      Consuming Subjects Elizabeth Kowaleski-Wallace, 1997 An insightful examination of the history of the female shopper Consuming Subjects explores the origins of current ideas about women and consumerism calling into question the natural link between women and the commodities they buy While previous scholars have considered the nineteenth century department store and arcade as the crucial place for understanding the emergence of the modern female consumer Kowaleski Wallace argues that it is the eighteenth century that yields a keener understanding of the foundations of contemporary cultural practices By focusing on the eighteenth century she develops a clear sense of how women's appetite was diverted toward goods how shopping became gendered as feminine and how women's bodies became configured in relation to consumerism The book is organized around three aspects of consumption The Tea Table illustrates the disciplining of the female body and its potential for unruliness Shopping concerns a female consumer who is both compliant and insatiably desirous Business explores a gender differentiation which excludes women as wanton irregular and inconstant and defines business as male Consuming Subjects is concerned with eighteenth century literary texts with social spaces like the tea table and with material objects like porcelain and fine china Kowaleski Wallace links the rise of shopping to the appearance of modern pornography like pornography shopping embodies a cultural fantasy claiming to locate and control female pleasure Jacket      The Female Consumer Rosemary Scott, 1976      Private Screenings Lynn Spigel, Denise Mann, 1992-01-01      The Influence of Consumer Participation of the Female Consumer Lucille Mayer Gervais, 1985      Private Screenings Lynn Spigel, 1992 Analyzes how television delivers definitions of OC femininity OCO to its female audiences Includes a source guide for television shows from 1946 1970      Television and the Female Consumer Denise Mann, Lynn Spigel, 1988      The New Female Consumer Marissa Miley, Ann Mack, 2009      Consumer Behavior Patricia Huddleston, Stella Minahan, 2011-01-20 Women and shopping why is it important It's important because as a business owner you've probably realized you're missing a market segment for your product and you're not sure who or why It's important because as a CEO you realize women have tremendous consumer spending power and are crucial to survival in the competitive retail industry in America This book details facts that could help any retailer or product manager including women control over 20 trillion in consumer spending they are better educated they have more financial power they have greater decision making abilities and they have more mobility than any previous generation Consumer Behavior Women and Shopping provides a fascinating insight into women's shopping habits and motivations their many choices about when and where to shop Retailers and business managers need to understand a woman's needs and wants in order to attract and maintain their business      The Global Woman's Impact on E-Commerce Chizoma C. Nosiri, 2019-04-24 Imagine the irritations of getting unsatisfying service with Western corporations whose products are sold strictly online Perhaps it was another Amazon com order that was never delivered to a residence in New Delhi India an uncertain TransUnion error made on the credit of an individual in Hong Kong or a lack of action by Citibank to refund a Nigerian customer s account Receiving incompetent management feedback or the corporate s reluctance to resolve minor customers issues are unlimited in the United States and even greatly unconstrained in the global environment These consumer conflicts elevated to the global environment become massive and are destructive to the global consumer domain structure of the Global Female consumer her online engagement behavior and confidence and online companies branding on a global level Such Non Western consumer and corporate conflict interactions can create a catastrophe of cultural wars and clashes This book discusses the cross cultural study which determines if Western corporations computer mediated communication complaint of a select group of global female consumer who were born raised and live in China Nigeria and India is affected by their self confidence cultural norms or language barriers The book follows a scholarly study which determined the factors that make Western corporations online tools unfavorable to the select group of global females when it comes to expressing their concerns as opposed to complaining and addressing conflict issues with the local native businesses in their country In addition the study explored the difference in her confidence level and behavior during a complaint using corporate computer mediated communication tools contrasted with social media platforms i e Facebook or Twitter This book show cases the global female consumer s experience to explore whether she is welcomed treated as a family member friend guest visitor or stranger during her online shopping Since her perspective and complaint is an important component to Western corporations global success this book illustrates how her voice and money matters

Living Up to the Ads Simone Weil Davis,2000 Explores interactions between novels and advertising in the construction of subjectivity in the early part of the twentieth century The March of Spare Time Susan Currell,2010-11-24 In The March of Spare Time Susan Currell explores how and why leisure became an object of such intense interest concern and surveillance during the Great Depression As Americans experienced record high levels of unemployment leisure was thought by reformers policy makers social scientists physicians labor unions and even artists to be both a cause of and a solution to society s most entrenched ills Of all the problems that faced America in the 1930s only leisure seemed to offer a panacea for the rest The problem centered on divided opinions over what constituted proper versus improper use of leisure time On the one hand sociologists and reformers excoriated as improper such leisure activities as gambling loafing and drinking On the other the Works Progress Administration and the newly professionalized recreation experts promoted proper leisure activities such as reading sports and arts and crafts Such attention gave rise to new ideas about how Americans should spend their free time to better themselves and their nation These ideas were propagated in social science publications and proliferated into the wider cultural sphere Films fiction and radio also engaged with new ideas about leisure more extensively than has previously been recognized In examining this wide spectrum of opinion Currell offers the first full scale account of the fears and hopes surrounding leisure in the 1930s one that will be an important addition to the cultural history of the period

Gender and Early Television Sarah Arnold,2021-05-20 Between the nineteenth century and the mid twentieth century television transformed from an idea to an institution In Gender and Early Television Sarah Arnold traces women s relationship to the new medium of television across this period in the UK and USA She argues that women played a crucial role in its development both as producers and as audiences long before the golden age of television in the 1950s Beginning with the emergence of media entertainment in the mid nineteenth century and culminating in the rise of the post war television industries Arnold claims that all along the way women had a stake in television As keen consumers of media women also helped promote television to the public by performing as television girls Women worked as directors producers technical crew and announcers It seemed that television was open to women However as Arnold shows the increasing professionalisation of television resulted in the segregation of roles Production became the sphere of men and consumption the sphere of women While this binary has largely informed women s role in television through her analysis Arnold argues that it has not always been the case

All the World and Her Husband Margaret R. Andrews,Mary M. Talbot,2000-05-01 Many of women s everyday experiences are tied up inextricably with consumption In consumer culture research it tends to be the activities and interests of women which take center stage This collection provides a wide range of different perspectives on women as consumers focusing on popular culture including examinations of popular media and their targeting of female audiences Apart from a grounding in feminism the collection does not present a single view theoretically methodologically or politically Its contributors work across a wide range of disciplines including cultural and media studies design history and sociolinguistics What they all have in common is the aim of understanding women s experiences and struggles in relation to consumer culture in the 20th century

Sold! Monica Neve,2010 For her doctoral dissertation Neve chose the subject of shopping more specifically the emergence of women as shoppers the development of shopping as a socially important recreational activity and the concentrated effort of advertisers to entice women to consume She chose Munich in order to focus closely on a specific locale and she draws on the advertising strategies of four Munich firms to illuminate the cultural shift to consumerism Her study addresses gender issues aesthetic repercussions and commercial and economic implications It is well documented and lists numerous primary and secondary sources including archives newspapers trade journals periodicals books and journal articles
