The Confucian World Observed Weiming Tu, Milan Hejtmanek, Alan Wachman, 1992-01-01 A workshop sponsored by the American Academy of Arts and Sciences in 1989 brought together more than two dozen scholars in the humanities and social sciences to explore Confucian ethics as a common intellectual discourse in East Asia The participants included specialists on the societies of China Japan Korea Taiwan Hong Kong and Singapore as well as scholars who specialize in comparative studies In nine intensive sessions they probed the ways in which the Confucian ethic has shaped perceptions of selfhood dynamics of familial relations gender construction social organization political authority popular beliefs and economic culture in East Asia This book is a distillation of the essence of their multidisciplinary and cross cultural examination of these issues It seeks especially to illuminate claims that Confucian ethics have provided the necessary background and a powerful motivation in the rise of industrial East Asia the most dynamic region of sustained economic growth and political development since World War II

The World Observed/The World Conceived Hans Radder, 2014-06-26 Observation and conceptual interpretation constitute the two major ways through which human beings engage the world The World Observed The World Conceived presents an innovative analysis of the nature and role of observation and conceptualization While these two actions are often treated as separate Hans Radder shows that they are inherently interconnected that materially realized observational processes are always conceptually interpreted and that the meaning of concepts depends on the way they structure observational processes and abstract from them He examines the role of human action and conceptualization in realizing observational processes and develops a detailed theory of the relationship between observation abstraction and the meaning of concepts The World Observed The World Conceived will prove useful to many areas of scholarly study including ontology epistemology philosophy of language philosophy of science science studies and cognitive science

The Micro-World Observed by Ultra High-Speed Cameras Kinko Tsuji, 2017-08-30 This volume is about ultra high speed cameras which enable us to see what we normally do not see These are objects that are moving very fast or that we just ignore Ultra high speed cameras invite us to a wonderland of microseconds There Alice the reader meets a ultra high speed rabbit this volume and travels together through this wonderland from the year 1887 to 2017 They go to the horse riding ground and see how a horse gallops The rabbit takes her to a showroom where various cameras and illumination devices are presented Then he sends Alice into semiconductor labyrinths wind tunnels mechanical processing factories and dangerous explosive fields Sometimes Alice is large and at other times she is very small She sits even inside a car engine She falls down together with a droplet She enters a microbubble is thrown out with a jet stream and finds herself in a human body Waking up from her dream she sees children playing a game I see what you do not see and this is Alice thinks The ultra high speed rabbit showed me many things which I had never seen Now I will go again to this wonderland and try to find something new
