Power, Intimacy, and the Life Story Dan P. McAdams, 1988-01-01 Who am I And how do I fit into the world These are the questions individuals ask themselves to make sense of their lives Power Intimacy and the Life Story addresses the human quest for identity The author reinterprets some of the classic writings in psychology as he shows how each of us constructs a life story in order to meet the identity challenge and create a sense of unity and purpose in our lives Written for the social scientist practicing clinician educated layperson and student this compelling study describes how we construct stories that are organized by the two general life themes of power and intimacy Using the results of questionnaires and interviews with both college students and older adults the author illustrates an innovative way of understanding human lives in literary terms

Overture ,1891 Yearbook Music Educators National Conference (U.S.),1920

Global Issues in Higher Education Pamela B. Richards,2007 In most developed countries a high proportion of the population up to 50 percent now enter higher education at some time in their lives Higher education is therefore very important to national economies both as a significant industry in its own right and as a source of trained and educated personnel for the rest of the economy It follows that there are enormous stakes involved for a particular country even though the payoff of serious reforms may take decades and thus be counterproductive to the political forces responsible for designing and implementing such reforms since their horizons tend to be very short This new book tackles important issues in this dynamic field
