Committee on Science, Space, and Technology. Subcommittee on Science, Research, and Technology,1989 Technology Transfer to Latin American Countries Sascha Hannig Núñez,2025-03-12 Hannig N ez analyzes the processes behind technology transfers at a state decision making level in Latin America She challenges the conventional notion that the United States and China hold a dominant technological presence over the region highlighting the increasing influence from both middle powers and regional actors This book builds on existing theory and case studies to assess the relevance of economic incentives geopolitical rivalries and value driven considerations in the outcomes of technology transfer in different scenarios It further explores the notion of a new Cold War between China and the United States and examines how these superpowers leverage technology transfers to extend their influence but ultimately fall short due to growing competition from previously overlooked players In closely examining these dynamics Hannig N ez demonstrates how technology transfer is not solely an economic process but a significant geopolitical tool that influences international order national sovereignty and regional integration An invaluable resource for students academics and researchers interested in the intersection between technology cybersecurity and international politics Chapter 9 of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4 0 license Penal Treaties with Mexico and Canada United States.
