The Sound of Architecture Angeliki Sioli, Elisavet Kiourtsoglou, 2022-05-18 How sound and its atmospheres transform architecture Acoustic atmospheres can be fleeting elusive or short lived Sometimes they are constant but more often they change from one moment to the next forming distinct impressions each time we visit certain places Stable or dynamic acoustic atmospheres have a powerful effect on our spatial experience sometimes even more so than architecture itself This book explores the acoustic atmospheres of diverse architectural environments in terms of scale program location or historic period providing an overview of how acoustic atmospheres are created perceived experienced and visualized The contributors explore how sound and its atmospheres transform architecture and space Their essays demonstrate that sound is a tangible element in the design and staging of atmospheres and that it should become a central part of the spatial explorations of architects designers and urban planners The Sound of Architecture will be of interest to architectural historians theorists students and practicing architects who will discover how acoustic atmospheres can be created without complex and specialized engineering It will also be of value to scholars working in the field of history of emotions as it offers evocative descriptions of acoustic atmospheres from diverse cultures and time periods

Sound-space Nicholas Dean Anderson, 2001 The Routledge Companion to the Sound of Space Emma-Kate Matthews, Jane Burry, Mark Burry, 2024-11-11 This companion explores a range of conceptual and practical relationships between sound and space across various disciplines providing insights from technical creative cultural political philosophical psychological and physiological perspectives The content spans a wide range of spatial typologies from large reverberant buildings to modest and intimate ones from external public squares to domestic interiors and from naturally formed environments to highly engineered spaces These compiled insights and observations explore the vast diversity of ways in which sonic and spatial realms interact This publication therefore forms important bridges between the intricate and diverse topics of technology philosophy composition performance and spatial design to contemplate the potential of sound and space as tools for creative expression and communication as well as for technical innovation It is hoped that by sharing these insights this book will inspire practitioners scholars and enthusiasts to incorporate new perspectives and methodologies into their own work Through a rich blend of theory practice and critical reflection this volume serves as a valuable resource for anyone interested in exploring the intricacy of relationships between space and sound whether they are students professionals or simply curious Our companion provides a cross section through shared territories between sonic and spatial disciplines from architecture engineering sound design music composition and performance urban design product design and much more

Site Soundscapes Per Hedfors,2008 Site Soundscapes Sonotope Design is based on the assumption that landscape architects work on projects in which the acoustic aspects can be taken into consideration In such projects activities are seen to be located within the landscape and specific sounds belong to these activities This research raised the orchestration of the soundscape as a new area of concern in the field of landscape architecture new methods of approaching the problem are suggested The landscape is viewed as a space for sound sources and listeners where the sounds are transferred and coloured such that each site constitute a sonotope Professionals can learn to recognise the auditory phenomena which are characteristic of a certain type of land use Acoustic sources are obvious elements as a starting point in the planning process Their effects on the soundscape can subsequently be evaluated according to various planning options A prototype of a computer tool for use in landscape architecture is developed This is intended to promote listening as well as stimulate an appreciation of the soundscape approach in the processes of planning and design

Constructing Urban Space with Sounds and Music Dr Ricciarda Belgiojoso,2014-04-28 This book aims at drawing the reader s attention to the sound of the urban environment Using an interdisciplinary approach it examines a heterogeneous selection of experimentations from the domains of music art and architecture Significant case studies of pieces of music public art works and scientific research in the field of urban planning are analyzed investigating the methods that have been adopted and the aural processes that have been generated It then uses the findings to reconstruct the underlying theories and practices and to show what might be drawn from these procedures applied to urban planning

Spaces Speak, Are You Listening? Barry Blesser,Linda-Ruth Salter,2009-09-18 How we experience space by listening the concepts of aural architecture with examples ranging from Gothic cathedrals to surround sound home theater We experience spaces not only by seeing but also by listening We can navigate a room in the dark and hear the emptiness of a house without furniture Our experience of music in a concert hall depends on whether we sit in the front row or under the balcony The unique acoustics of religious spaces acquire symbolic meaning Social relationships are strongly influenced by the way that space changes sound In Spaces Speak Are You Listening Barry Blesser and Linda Ruth Salter examine auditory spatial awareness experiencing space by attentive listening Every environment has an aural architecture The audible attributes of physical space have always contributed to the fabric of human culture as demonstrated by prehistoric multimedia cave paintings classical Greek open air theaters Gothic cathedrals acoustic geography of French villages modern music reproduction and virtual spaces in home theaters Auditory spatial awareness is a prism that reveals a culture s attitudes toward hearing and space Some listeners can learn to see objects with their ears but even without training we can all hear spatial geometry such as an open door or low ceiling Integrating contributions from a wide range of disciplines including architecture music acoustics evolution anthropology cognitive psychology audio engineering and many others Spaces Speak Are You Listening establishes the concepts and language of aural architecture These concepts provide an interdisciplinary guide for anyone interested in gaining a better understanding of how space enhances our well being Aural architecture is not the exclusive domain of specialists Accidentally or intentionally we all function as aural architects

Worship Sound Spaces Christine Guillebaud, Catherine Lavandier, 2019-11-18 Worship Sound Spaces unites specialists from architecture acoustic engineering and the social sciences to encourage closer analysis of the sound environments within places of worship Gathering a wide range of case studies set in Europe Asia North America the Middle East and Africa the book presents investigations into Muslim Christian and Hindu spaces These diverse cultural contexts demonstrate the composite nature of designing and experiencing places of worship Beginning with a historical overview of the three primary indicators in acoustic design of religious buildings reverberation intelligibility and clarity the second part of this edited collection offers a series of field studies devoted to perception before moving onto recent examples of restoration of the sound ambiances of former religious buildings Written for academics and students interested in architecture cultural heritage acoustics sensory studies and sound The multimedia documents of this volume may be consulted at the address <https://frama.link/WSS>

In the Place of Sound Colin Ripley, Marco L. Polo, Arthur Wigglesworth, 2007 In early June 2006 a group of over one hundred artists and researchers met for a three day conference in the Architecture Building at Ryerson University in Toronto Canada to discuss from as many different viewpoints as possible the varying relationships between sound and space This conference was part of soundaXis a city wide festival involving most of Toronto's new music community and organised by the Toronto Coalition of New Music Presenters Out of the lively discussions at this conference two primary themes emerged the fraught condition of the relationship between sound as space and the problematic role of representation and its twin translation in any discussion of this relationship This book presents thirteen essays taken from the conference which address one or both of these primary themes In addition seven graphic essays have been included which present projects in which architects explicitly take on sound as a generating material in their designs The resulting chapters in the book provide a diverse and hopefully provocative collection of ideas and images They are meant not so much as a comprehensive study of the sound space nexus esuch a study may not actually be possible ebut as a place to begin the discussion
