Unruly Practices:

Unruly Practices Nancy Fraser, 1989      Michel Foucault Barry Smart, 1994      On the Politics of the Living Federico Testa, 2025-04-17 Examining Foucault's work on the politicization of life through the lens of Canguilhem's notion of norms Federico Testa explores new possibilities for biopolitical resistance      Self-management and the Crisis of Socialism Michael Wayne Howard, 2000 While some conclude from the revolutions of 1989 that socialism is dead interest in socialism continues because of persisting problems of contemporary capitalism In this exciting text Michael W Howard offers critiques of liberal communitarian postmodern and some Marxist perspectives in order to develop a left liberal defense of a model of self managed market socialism that includes a basic income for all Specific applications of his view include analyses of its implications for the global marketplace the changing nature of workplaces and media restructuring and ownership This work is sure to be of interest to social scientists public policy makers and economists as well as to feminists ecologists and others concerned with how market socialism is relevant to their social issues      A Genealogy of Queer Theory William Benjamin Turner, 2000 Who are queers and what do they want Could it be that we are all queers Beginning with such questions this book traces the roots of queer theory examining the growing awareness that few people precisely fit standard categories for sexual and gender identities      Critiques of Knowing Lynette Hunter, 2002-03-11 Critiques of Knowing explores what happens to science and computing when we think of them as texts Lynette Hunter elegantly weaves together vast areas of thought rhetoric politics AI computing feminism science studies aesthetics and epistemology Critiques of Knowing shows us that what we need is a radical shake up of approaches to the arts if the critiques of science and computing are to come to any fruition      Women, Culture, and International Relations Vivienne Jabri, Eleanor O'Gorman, 1999 This text expands the agenda of feminist international relations by considering the heterogeneity of women's voices in the realm of world politics as well as the challenges that this diversity poses The authors develop a theoretical discourse that incorporates the combined notion of difference and emancipation in a discussion of the agency of women and their transformative capacity They use a normative approach to understanding the multiple subjectivities of women and the plurality of their experiences      Parasite Paradise Liesbeth Melis, 2003 Parasites are flexible and temporary structures designed by artists or architects that feed off of existing infrastructure Parasite Paradise documents 23 projects that respond on their own terms to new and unforeseen demands Many of these parasites have settled in the government designated Vinex district of Leidsche Rijn near Utrecht turning a district almost exclusively concerned with dwelling into a more urban entity What do these small mobile architectural interventions mean for our strictly regulated society and for the planning of architecture and urbanism What sense or nonsense is there in mobile architecture from a historical perspective How much of it is art and how much is architecture Parasite Paradise encourages us to consider a new approach to planning one where not everything is fixed beforehand This makes it required reading for architects urban planners and artists whose concern is designing urban space
