Restoring Safe School Communities Brenda Morrison, 2007 Restoring Safe School Communities a whole school response to bullying violence and alienation introduces a whole school approach to addressing the problems of bullying and violence in schools Author Brenda Morrison proposes a continuum of responsive and restorative practices for building safe school communities The first most proactive level of practices aims to develop all students social and emotional competencies to enable students to resolve their differences in caring and respectful ways The second level of practices widens the circle of care around the participants Typically this level of response occurs when the problem has become more protracted or has involved and affected a larger number of people and involves other members of the school community stepping in to assist in the resolution of the conflict or concern The third and final level of practices involves the participation of an even wider cross section of the school community including parents guardians social workers and others who have been affected This tertiary level of intervention is normally only used for serious incidents within the school Morrison explains the thinking behind the suggested responses and shows how they can be implemented by practices such as a responsible citizen program and restorative justice circles and conferences

Zero Tolerance Discipline Policies Brian Schoonover, PhD, 2009-03-20 Mandatory punishments for disciplinary offenses have been included in school districts' Student Codes of Conduct since it was mandated by the Gun-Free Schools Act of 1994. While zero tolerance policies were initially created to protect students and teachers from gun attacks in schools, the way in which these policies have actually been implemented in schools has prompted some parents, educators, and politicians to challenge them and call for zero tolerance policy reform. Since 1994, a majority of school districts have expanded their use of zero tolerance policies to include infractions other than those included to keep guns out of schools. Zero Tolerance Discipline Policies, the first comprehensive study of its kind, conducted by author Dr. Brian James Schoonover, examines the history of zero tolerance policies, including the practice of adding offenses other than the possession of guns to these policies. With practical, action-oriented recommendations on ways policymakers and educational leaders can improve how students are disciplined, Zero Tolerance Discipline Policies offers recommendations on what should be included in a model Student Code of Conduct, as well as a recommendation for starting a ThreeCHANCE (Changing Habits After New Character Education) system of
