We Of The Never Never:

Dislocating the Frontier Deborah Bird Rose, Richard Davis, 2006-03-01 The frontier is one of the most pervasive concepts underlying the production of national identity in Australia. Recently it has become a highly contested domain in which visions of nationhood are argued out through analysis of frontier conflict. DISLOCATING THE FRONTIER departs from this contestation and takes a critical approach to the frontier imagination in Australia. The authors of this book work with frontier theory in comparative and unsettling modes. The essays reveal diverse aspects of frontier images and dreams as manifested in performance, decolonising domains, language and cross-cultural encounters. Under the Spell of the Ages Trisha Dixon, 2007 Ardent lovers of landscape scenery will delight in this lavishly illustrated book which showcases 25 of Australia's most elegant and exquisite historic gardens. Australia's leading garden design photographer and writer Trisha Dixon brings to life the beauty of gardens such as those of Brindabella Station, Elsey Station, Wallcliffe House, Heide and The Cedars, locating them in time and place as she draws on the work of writers such as Banjo Paterson, Patrick White, Miles Franklin, Mary Gilmore and Louisa Meredith as well as on a wide variety of memoirs, diaries and letters. Pastoral Australia Michael Pearson, Jane Lennon, 2010-04-27 Pastoral Australia tells the story of the expansion of Australia's pastoral industry, how it drove European settlement and involved Aboriginal people in the new settler society. The rural life that once saw Australia ride on the sheep's back is no longer what defines us, yet it is largely our history as a pastoral nation that has endured in heritage places and which is embedded in our self-image as Australians. The challenges of sustaining a pastoral industry in Australia make a compelling story of their own. Developing livestock breeds able to prosper in the Australian environment was an ongoing challenge, as was getting wool and meat to market. Many stock routes, wool stores, abattoirs, wharf facilities, railways, roads and river and ocean transport systems that were developed to link the pastoral interior with the urban and market infrastructure still survive. Windmills, fences, homesteads, shearing sheds, bores, stock yards, travelling stock routes, bush roads and railheads all changed the look of the country. These features of our landscape form an important part of our heritage. They are symbols of a pastoral Australia and of the foundations of our national identity which will endure long into the future. Studies in the History of Tax Law, Volume 3 John Tiley, 2009-09-17 This work on the history of tax law presents the papers delivered at the third Tax Law History Conference in 2006. Purifying Empire Deana Heath, 2010-06-03 Purifying Empire explores the material, cultural and moral fragmentation of the boundaries of imperial and colonial rule in the British Empire in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries. It charts how a particular bio-political project, namely the drive to regulate the obscene in late nineteenth-century Britain, was transformed from a national into a global and imperial venture and then re-localized in two different colonial contexts, India and Australia, to serve decidedly different ends. While a considerable body of work has demonstrated both the role of empire in shaping moral regulatory projects in Britain and their adaptation, transformation and at times rejection in colonial contexts, this book illustrates that it is in fact only through a comparative and transnational framework that it is possible to elucidate both the temporalist nature of colonialism and the political racial and moral contradictions that sustained imperial and colonial regimes

The Australian Country Girl: History, Image, Experience Catherine Driscoll, 2016-03-23 The Australian Country Girl History Image Experience offers a detailed analysis of the experience and the image of Australian country girlhood In Australia country girl names a field of experiences and life stories by girls and women who have grown up outside of the demographically dominant urban centres But it also names a set of ideas about Australia that is surprisingly consistent across the long twentieth century despite also working as an index of changing times For a long period in Australian history well before Federation and long after it public and popular culture openly equated Australian character with rural life This image of Australian ness sometimes went by the name of the bush man now a staple of Australian history This has been counterbalanced post World War II and increased immigration by an image of sophisticated Australian modernity located in multicultural cities These images of Australia balance rather than contradict one another in many ways and the more cosmopolitan image of Australia is often in dialogue with that preceding image of the bush This book does not offer a corrective to the story of Australian national identity but rather a fresh perspective on this history and a new focus on the ever changing experience of Australian rural life It argues that the country girl has not only been a long standing counterpart to the Australian bush man she has more importantly figured as a point of dialogue between the country and the city for popular culture and for public sphere narratives about Australian society and identity
