The Uncompleted Past Martin B. Duberman, 1971 Making Bodies, Making History Leslie A. Adelson, 1993-01-01 In West German literature in the 1970s and 1980s bodies functioned not as victims of history nor as allegories for the nation but as sites of contested identities Focusing on conflicts about identity in present day Germany and on literary texts in which the body is an aesthetic construct Leslie A Adelson reformulates questions of embodiment and historical agency questions that continue to haunt culture studies in general and German studies and women s studies in particular This interdisciplinary study of history race gender and nationality offers rich readings of three contemporary prose texts that challenge the suppositions of prevalent literary theory Anne Duden s bergang TORKAN s Tufan Brief an einen islamischen Bruder and Jeanette Lander s Ein Sommer in der Woche der Itke K Adelson s discussion of heterogeneous identities in contemporary German culture boldly explores accountability and innovation in historical process Family Secrets and the Contemporary German Novel Elizabeth Snyder Hook, 2001 Central to the discussions of each novel are questions of guilt cultural identity and atonement and of the relocation of these ultimately unresolvable issues from the larger national and political arena to the realm of intimate relationships between parents and children BOOK JACKET Neo-slave Narratives Ashraf H. A. Rushdy, 1999-11-04 NeoSlave Narratives is a study in the political social and cultural content of a given literary form the novel of slavery cast as a first person slave narrative After discerning the social and historical factors surrounding the first appearance of that literary form in the 1960s NeoSlave Narratives explores the complex relationship between nostalgia and critique while asking how African American intellectuals at different points between 1976 and 1990 remember and use the site of slavery to represent the crucial cultural debates that arose during the sixties Refractions of the Third Reich in German and Austrian Fiction and Film Chloe Paver, 2007-02-22 Six decades after the defeat of National Socialism commemoration and mourning are ongoing open ended projects in Germany and Austria and continue to generate a steady stream of literature and film about the Nazi past that while comparatively modest in volume is often disproportionately influential in public debates At the same time new museums and memorials are being established all the time in what Andreas Huyssen has called a memory boom while what is remembered and how it is remembered is subject to continuous change Scholars have to keep pace with each new development in this culture of commemoration Rather than add to the growing body of surveys of literature and film about the Third Reich this study instead puts scholars critical approaches under the microscope Chloe Paver considers how far the object of the study is not just analysed but also constructed by the scholar s approach and identifies the criteria by which academics judge the values of works that deal with the Third Reich This book brings aspects of film fiction and memorial culture together in a single study that pays as much attention to images and in the case of film to sound as it does to text The study of film historical exhibitions and sites of memory also demands consideration of social contexts and practices A case study of memory at two of Austria s sites of terror demonstrates the methods used in the study of memorials and museums and considers the ways in which memory attaches itself to place
