The Aging Experience:

The Aging Experience Russell A. Ward, 1984 This text focuses on managerial issues of operations management for e-commerce businesses The text is based on empirical evidence provided by numerous e-commerce organizations and research scholars The Aging Experience Jennie Keith, Christine L. Fry, Anthony P. Glascock, Charlotte Ikels, Jeanette Dickerson-Putman, Henry C. Harpending, Patricia Draper, 1994-09-22 In an attempt to understand the meaning of ageing and the treatment of the aged in different cultures seven anthropologists have made studies of 10 communities on four continents the results of which are presented in this book The authors use both qualitative and statistical data to examine such issues as health and well being perceptions of the life course material resources and functionality of elders A unique resource The Aging Experience provides a detailed comparative analysis of ageing worldwide The Aging Experience Cherry Russell, 2024-05-10 Local writing on the subject of old age had tended to a fairly uniform approach focusing on empirical studies of old age as a social problem using census and survey type data Little attention had been paid to theory development Originally published in 1981 this book provides an in depth study of how old age was experienced in contemporary Australian society at the time It was the first major piece of original research on aging to be published in Australia and in several important senses represented a clear departure from the mainstream of Australian gerontology The Aging Experience links original in depth data to a broad theoretical framework Working from the premise that old age is a devalued status it examines the implications of this for the personal experience and interpersonal relations of elderly people Through detailed case studies of elderly Australians their interaction with family age peers and welfare services are described The analysis concentrates less on the overt characteristics of these relationships and their material functions than on their symbolic content and meaning for the participants Thus the study moves beyond conventional statistical documentation of the problems of old age to a sharper delineation of aging as a lived experience It is an approach which offers new perspectives and challenges many of the assumptions underlying previous research The Aging Experience Bert Cave, 2012-07-01 The Aging Experience is the phase of our life that tends to get the least attention in terms of planning and forethought We research and plan where we will go to college where we will live our career opportunities our retirement Even our estates are planned through wills trusts and advance health care directives What we do not usually plan very well or even understand fully is the aging experience we will encounter Worlds of Difference Eleanor Palo Stoller, Rose Campbell Gibson, 2000 This collection of readings presents a variety of perspectives on ageing from different communities across the United States Native American Puerto Rican African American the elderly homeless white working class gay and Mexican amongst many others The readings cover topics such as life course social and psychological contexts of ageing paid and unpaid activity the American family and health Aging Bodies Christopher A. Faircloth, 2003 Western thought traditionally divides the human being into a body mind dualism a divide realized in the divergent research fields of geriatrics which examines the physical body and gerontology which focuses on the psychological and social aspects of aging Faces of Aging Yoshiko Matsumoto, 2011-03-17 The chapters in this volume put a human face on aging issues and consider multiple dimensions of the aging experience with a focus on Japan The Collective Spirit of Aging Across Cultures Halaevalu F. Ofahengaue Vakalahi, Gaynell M. Simpson, Nancy Giunta, 2014-01-28 The collective inclusive and intersectional framework used in this book speaks to the significance of understanding aging across diverse cultures from multiple perspectives but still as a shared human experience The underlying message of the book is that although we are unique and different in our aging processes we are ultimately connected through this physical mental and spiritual experience of aging Thus regardless of whether we are service providers service recipients educators or merely fellow human beings it is important that we approach the aging experience through a collective lens for discovering and sharing resources as we age honoring the past while simultaneously accepting that the future is here A few select examples of key findings from this collaborative work are as follows First despite progress in the field certain issues remain to be addressed including the challenges of racism and sexism mistreatment the digital divide poverty and other social and economic crises in urban and rural communities as they relate to our aging population Second the need for sustaining a sense of independence among the aged and interdependence among supportive systems is warranted Third our elders continue to benefit from culturally competent services community based health interventions and social services that addresses normative and emerging challenges for them Fourth spirituality in both indigenous and contemporary perspectives remains important for our elders development and quality of life

Aging and Diversity Lisa Wagner, Chandra M Mehrotra, Man Guo, 2025-09-22 Aging and diversity intersect in important ways as individuals from different backgrounds experience aging through distinct lenses shaped by traditions values and beliefs As the older population in the United States is becoming more diverse it is important to understand the characteristics the potential and the needs of this population In this new and fully revised edition of Aging and Diversity Lisa S Wagner Chandra Mehrotra and Man Guo address key topics in diversity and aging discussing how the aging experience is affected by not only race and ethnicity but also gender religious affiliation socioeconomic status rural urban community location and sexual orientation and gender identity Taking this broad view of human diversity allows the authors to convey some of the rich complexities facing aging populations complexities that provide both challenges to meet the needs of a diverse population of elders and opportunities to learn how to live in a pluralistic society Wagner Mehrotra and Guo present up to date knowledge and scholarship about aging and diversity in a way that engages readers in active learning placing ongoing emphasis on developing readers knowledge and skills fostering higher order thinking and encouraging exploration of personal values and attitudes Aging and Diversity Stephen Fried, Chandra Mehrotra, 1998 Continuing diversification demands that students of gerontology and service providers for the elderly learn how factors such as ethnicity gender social class and religion affect aging This book argues that education and gerontology need to be taught from a multi cultural perspective Health Aspects of Aging Gari Lesnoff-Caravaglia, 2007 This second edition of Health Aspects of Aging serves to broaden the perspectives of societal change due to increases in life expectancy as well as the effects of age related changes as they impinge upon the provision of health care for older persons The growing presence of a large number of persons aged 65 and older worldwide has propelled a re evaluation of the nature of life that is protracted to 100 years and beyond The emphasis in this second edition is to replace the prevailing problem approach to aging by a problem solving approach The problem solving approach of this volume has allowed for the incorporation of the concept of new social structures and the development of intervention and prevention strategies along with new technologies Such new products and health care measures include those that are deliberately aimed to offset debilities due to normal age changes the onslaught of diseases incongruous environments and altered social states Such a multi disciplinary perspective underscores the fact that aging permeates not only biological systems but clinical medicine economics ethics and the very fabric of society The chapters in this volume address these issues from the standpoints of diverse disciplines and professional positions Since biological changes are primary issues the aging process is largely described from the perspective of biological changes related to age and to particular dysfunctions The environmental features and the potential introduction of technological interventions are interspersed within chapters as well as finding primary focus in particular chapters The maturity of the technology described in the chapters varies from devices and systems that are nearly ready to be marketed to concepts and prototypes that are still in the design and developmental stages in the laboratory The relationship between the provision of appropriate health care and the responsible utilization of technologies as described in this volume will serve to enhance the nature of life extension
