Okinawan Weaponry, Hidden Methods, Ancient Myths of Kobudo & Te Mark D Bishop, 2017-02-07 This work clearly defines and catalogues the fifty historical hand held weapons that were used in Okinawa Prefecture and the Ryukyu Islands from the dawn of its history It show the stages of development and introduction of these weapons to the islands and how they affected the culture through the ages The standard five popular weapons of the modern era bo sai tonfa nunchaku kama are described in detail with many scale drawings but surprisingly it clearly shows the influence of bladed weapons such as the curved sword Firearms also made a huge contribution to Ryukyuan weapon development so these are also introduced in their historical context Most surprising is the contextual detail of the historic eras such as the affects of the Satsuma Invasion of the Ryukyu Islands in 1609 the dissolution of the monarchy in 1879 Contrary to popular myth between these years Okinawans did not adopt farmers tools for self protection for quite a different history is revealed herein House documents ,1893

John Wilkes Gun & Rifle Manufacturer: A Family History Stephen Grist, 2025-07-06 When in July 2003 John and Tom Wilkes closed their sporting gun and rifle making business in the heart of London s Soho they ended a business that had traded continuously for over 180 years through five consecutive generations of the same family The founder Joseph Wilkes was a maker of pistols initially flintlock who worked in the gunmaking quarter in Birmingham through most the first half of the 19th century By 1850 the firm had established a presence in London as well and during the decade that followed switched its focus to the fast emerging skill of making actions for breech loading guns and rifles The development and perfection of the design for these weapons was to drive the trade in both centres for the remainder of the century and well into the next In 1895 John Wilkes Joseph s grandson and the then head of the business with 20 years of bench work experience in London behind him most recently as J D Dougall s factory manager decided to steer the family firm away from outwork making all or major parts of guns to be sold and branded by others to in house making for sale under his own name He set up his base in Soho the leading artisan craft village community working close to the centre of the capital With gunmaking skills in London in short supply for much of the 20th century Wilkes soon found that they were drawing in out worker jobs from all the prestigious London gunmaking firms Some major changes were made during the 20th century the Birmingham branch was closed the people involved switched to working for London on an outwork basis and three generations of the family took their turn to lead the business But the firm stayed in Soho and kept the arrangement whereby the shop workshop and office were all at one address and for the last 80 years this was at 79 Beak Street The material for book has been drawn from the firm s extensive surviving records but because of the volume of out work that was coming in it is as much about the operation of the London and Birmingham Gun

Trades in 20th century as it is about the details of the John Wilkes business itself It also throws new light on a generation of master craftsmen who were the powerhouse of the trade in both its centres in the inter war years all of whom had dealings of one sort or another with John Wilkes The 20th century was to become a period throughout which the Wilkes firm survived whilst many of their competitors did not This book by expert Stephen Grist sets out some of the reasons why

100 Ways to Defend Yourself in the Street [translated] M P Lynch,2019-12-29 Emile Andre had already shown the beleaguered citizens of Paris how to defend themselves on the mean streets with his manual 100 Ways to Defend Yourself in the Street Without Weapons In the interest of keeping his reader well rounded in the art of self defense he then published the companion volume 100 Ways to Defend Yourself in the Street With Weapons His simplified arsenal of course includes the combative applications of La Canne with all of the cuts blocks and ripostes you will need to stay in one piece even if you don t win points for style while doing so He goes on to discuss the sword cane knives and daggers bludgeons and brass knuckles

then known to the French as an American Punch He finishes with a brief guide to the defensive use of a pistol and in all he offers a fine little bare bones system that would serve a tactically minded citizen well in the present day For fans of the surprisingly rich world of fin de siecle French combatives and martial arts Emile Andre s 100 Ways to Defend Yourself in the Street With Weapons belongs alongside your manuals by Leclerc LeBoucher LeCour and of course the great Charlemont himself "New Jersey."
