The Walk Notes On A Romantic Image:

The Walk Jeffrey Cane Robinson, 1989 Robinson English U of Colorado meditates on walking and on literary and visual representations of walking His book will capture the imaginations of poets and novelists general readers interested in literature and culture and nature and walking enthusiasts Annotation copyright Book News Inc Talking the Walk & Walking the Talk Marc Shell, 2015-09-01 This book argues that we should regard walking and talking in a single rhythmic vision In doing so it contributes to the theory of prosody our understanding of respiration and looking and in sum to the particular links across the board between the human characteristics of bipedal walking and meaningful talk The author first introduces the philosophical neurological anthropological and aesthetic aspects of the subject in historical perspective then focuses on rhetoric and introduces a tension between the small and large issues of rhythm He thereupon turns his attention to the roles of breathing in poetry as a life and death matter with attention to beats and walking poems This opens onto technical concepts from the classical traditions of rhetoric and philology Turning to the relationship between prosody and motion he considers both animals and human beings as both ostensibly able bodied creatures and presumptively disabled ones Finally he looks at dancing and writing as aspects of walking and talking with special attention to motion in Arabic and Chinese calligraphy The final chapters of the book provide a series of interrelated representative case studies

The Spiritual Journal of Henry David Thoreau Malcolm Clemens Young, 2009 Most people who care about nature cannot help but use religious language to describe their experience We can trace many of these conceptions of nature and holiness directly to influential nineteenth century writers especially Henry David Thoreau 1817 1862 In Walden he writes that God himself culminates in the present moment and that in nature we encounter the workman whose work we are But what were the sources of his religious convictions about the meaning of nature in human life

Streetwalking the Metropolis : Women, the City and Modernity Deborah L. Parsons, 2000-03-02 Can there be a flaneuse and what form might she take This is the central question of Streetwalking the Metropolis an important contribution to ongoing debates on the city and modernity in which Deborah Parsons re draws the gendered map of urban modernism Assessing the cultural and literary history of the concept of the flaneur the urban observer writer traditionally gendered as masculine the author advances critical space for the discussion of a female flaneuse focused around a range of women writers from the 1880 s to World War Two Cutting across period boundaries this wide ranging study offers stimulating accounts of works by writers including Amy Levy Dorothy Richardson Virginia Woolf Rosamund Lehmann Jean Rhys Janet Flanner Djuna Barnes Anais Nin Elizabeth Bowen and Doris Lessing highlighting women s changing relationship with the social and psychic spaces of the city and drawing attention to the ways in which the perceptions and experiences of the street are translated into the dynamics of literary texts Mobility in the Victorian Novel Charlotte Mathieson,2015-09-13 Mobility in the Victorian Novel explores mobility in Victorian novels by authors including Charles Dickens Charlotte Bront Elizabeth Gaskell George Eliot and Mary Elizabeth Braddon With focus on representations of bodies on the move it reveals how journeys create the place of the nation within a changing global landscape Walks in the World Roger Gilbert,2014-07-14 In the twentieth century no form of experience has been more frequently taken up by poets eager to capture both the openness and fluidity of life and the aesthetic closure of an artwork than that of a walk Examining the walk poem Roger Gilbert contends that at its heart is the desire to keep what we have lived What is the appeal of the walk poem for modern American poets According to Gilbert it provides a ready made frame within which to explore the full range of individual consciousness as it responds to and reflects on the world immediately at hand The unstructured plotless character of the walk allows poets to move freely from place to place image to image thought to thought Suggesting that the walk poem strikes a compromise between the American obsession with process or movement and more traditionally mimetic concerns Gilbert shows how it enables the poet to apprehend the world as horizon rather than landscape Through perceptive and extended analyses of walk poems by Frost Stevens Williams Roethke Bishop O Hara Snyder Ammons and Ashbery he uncovers a spectrum of representational strategies for transforming passing experiences into the more lasting substance of poetry Walks in the World addresses anyone who takes poetry seriously Originally published in 1991 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905 Irreversible Steps Elizabeth Hope Wilson,2002 Review of Contemporary Fiction ,2006

Mythogeography Phil Smith,2010 Attributed to Phil Smith the Crab Man on the publisher s website American Notes Queries ,1990 A quarterly journal of short articles notes and reviews Walking, Literature, and English Culture Anne D. Wallace,1993 This is a cultural history of walking in nineteenth century England assessing its importance in literature and in culture Re reading Wordsworth in the context of contemporary changes in transportation agriculture and aesthetics Anne Wallace articulates a previously unrecognized literary mode peripatetic Her discussions of eighteenth century approaches to peripatetic and of John Clare's representations of walking as pastoral trace an itinerary through its varied uses in Victorian literature notably in the work of Barrett Browning Dickens and Hardy Increasingly frequent disappointment of peripatetic expectations reflects growing doubt about the writer's and the reader's ability to counter the disconnective tendencies of technology The book represents a major contribution to the ongoing debates regarding rural English literature in which the author demonstrates how a proper understanding of peripatetic significantly enriches our assessment of a text's standpoint on key issues including industrialization class and mobility Walking in the Wilderness Michaela Keck, 2006 This book investigates the adaptation and transformation of the European peripatetic tradition in nineteenth century America in particular Henry David Thoreau's literary walks and their visual counterparts in American landscape painting Although Thoreau's perambulations in New World nature have been stated in scholarship no study has offered a comparative analysis nor has the philosophic contemplative aspect of his art of Walking been sufficiently studied The present study puts his walking pattern into a transatlantic as well as interdisciplinary context and illuminates the uniquely American aesthetic philosophic considerations underlying the genre of the walk in American nineteenth century literature and painting

Ethnologia Europaea, 2009 Blake, 1992 An illustrated quarterly Placing and Displacing Romanticism Peter J. Kitson, 2001 The essays collected in this volume all address the crucial current issues of place and displacement placing and displacing in Romantic period studies These terms are used with dexterity and imagination explored and interrogated in both their literal and figurative manifestations Overall this volume of essays takes forward these seminal terms in contemporary criticism of Romantic writing in a series of fresh and subtle readings of texts and contexts historical philosophical social political and scientific Familiar texts are revisited with new insight and unfamiliar texts are placed in meaningful contexts Despite the claim that Romantic writing denies and evades history and the social tensions of its time this volume shows how such writing is replete with both explicit and implicit contributions to the essential debates of the time The contributors to this volume all leading scholars in their field combine the virtues of close textual reading with an informed awareness of the historical political and social pressures of the Romantic period encouraging a critical stance of historically engaged formalist critique The Poems with Illustrations from His Own Pictures and Designs Dante Gabriel Rossetti, 1904 Pictures from Italy, Sketches by Boz, and American Notes Charles Dickens, 1877 News from Nowhere, 1995 Theory and politics of romanticism Western American Literature, 2002
