Mental Health Atlas 2005 World Health Organization. Department of Mental Health and Substance Abuse, World Health Organization. Mental Health Evidence and Research Team, 2005 This atlas is aimed at collecting compiling and disseminating information on mental health resources in the world It presents updated and expanded information from 192 countries with analyses of global and regional trends as well as individual country profiles Newly included in this volume is a section on epidemiology within the profiles of all low and middle income countries It shows that mental health resources within most countries remain inadequate despite modest improvements since 2001 Availability of mental health resources across countries and between regions remains substantially uneven with many countries having few resources The atlas reinforces the urgent need to enhance mental health resources within countries

Consumer-Run Mental Health Louis D. Brown, 2011-10-23 Consumer run organizations and other types of mental health self help are becoming increasingly popular in the public mental health system These initiatives now outnumber traditional mental health organizations in the US Goldstrom et al 2006 This growth is due in large part to their low cost devoted supporters burgeoning evidence base and increased acceptance by mental health professionals International interest in these initiatives is also growing as self help is flourishing in industrialized countries worldwide I recently edited a special issue on mental health self help for the American Journal of Community Psychology and we received submissions from five continents with exciting work coming out of China Australia and Europe The proposed book develops a rich theoretical model called the Role Framework which explains how people engage in and benefit from mental health consumer run organizations CROs
