The Age of the Infovore Tyler Cowen, 2010-06-29 Previously published as Create Your Own Economy Will change the way you think about thinking Daniel H Pink author of A Whole New Mind Renowned behavioral economist and commentator Tyler Cowen shows that our supernetworked world is changing the way we think and empowering us to thrive in any economic climate Whether it is micro blogging on Twitter or buying single songs at iTunes we can now customize our lives to shape our own specific needs In other words we can create our own economy and live smarter happier fuller lives At a time when apocalyptic thinking has become all too common Cowen offers a much needed Information Age manifesto that will resonate with readers of Dan Ariely's Predictably Irrational Steven Johnson's Everything Bad is Good for You and everyone hungry to understand our potential to withstand and even thrive in any economic climate

The Online Self Soraj Hongladarom, 2016-07-27 This book investigates the emerging phenomenon of the self as it exists in the online world It argues for an externalist conception of self and identity one that does not depend on the continuity of consciousness of the subject It also offers an analysis of related phenomenon such as online friendship and games based on this analysis An outstanding feature of social networking sites such as Facebook and MySpace is that it allows for the user to put forward their selves or their identity onto the Internet and use the online self as an anchor to connect with any number of friends each of whom also has their own online selves A number of questions then arise which are deeply conceptual and philosophical in nature What is the metaphysical nature of this emerging online self Is it the same or fundamentally different from the offline self with which we are already familiar Since increasing numbers of people are connected to the online world this world itself seems to be taking on a reality of its own This much has been appreciated by a number of scholars in the field However there seems to be lacking a systematic study of the philosophical and metaphysical nature of the self that has become a key element in cyberspace a key topic which this volume addresses Apart from the problem of constitution of the online self this volume addresses related questions concerning personal identity in the online world and scrutinizes computer games and the characteristics that they share with social networking sites Unlike the majority of the existing literature which discusses the topic from a more social scientific perspective this volume fills the lacuna of a philosophical and theoretical study of the online world
