Visual Spatial Enquiry Robyn Creagh, Sarah McGann, 2018-12-07 Visual Spatial Enquiry explores visual and textual ways of working within spatial research Architects and spatial thinkers from the arts social sciences and humanities present rich case studies from remote and regional settings in Australia to the suburbs of Los Angeles and from gallery and university settings to community collaborations in Mongolia Through these case studies the authors reappraise and reconsider research approaches methods and processes within and across their fields In spatial research diagramming can be used as a method to synthesise complex concepts into a succinct picture whereas metaphors can add the richness of lived experiences Drawing on the editors own architectural backgrounds this volume is organised into three key themes seeing doing and making space In seeing space chapters consider observational research enquiries where developing empathy for the context and topic is as

In the early 1960s two leaders of the New York performance group Living Theatre were asked to define its purpose In this survey of contemporary American drama Matthew C Roudane argues that the response of these two pioneers in experimental theater Julian Beck and Judith Malina goes a long way toward explaining the purpose of all of the rich and varied dramas to appear on the stage since 1960 To increase conscious awareness to stress the sacredness of life to break down the walls African American playwrights Lorraine Hansberry Alice Childress James Baldwin Amiri Baraka women playwrights Marsha Norman Wendy Wasserstein Beth Henley gay playwrights Harvey Fierstein Tony Kushner and others have over the past three and a half decades entreated audiences to acknowledge the persistence of racism sexism homophobia and a host of other societal ills Other playwrights have asked audiences to confront their own mortality Edward Albee their compromised morality David Mamet their unfulfilled American Dream Arthur Miller Sam Shepard and countless others Whatever the particularities of these playwrights personal identities politics of dramatic style they share a willingness to confront uncomfortable truths about the human condition in America since 1960 Ironically it is in their very rebellion against any number of things American that they identify themselves and their literature as such Roudane takes no scattershot approach to his subject Favoring clusters of themes and the broad sweep of movements to linear chronology he develops a carefully aimed analysis of the work of about two dozen of the hundreds of playwrights whose dramas have since 1960 been performed in every venue from regional and university theaters to Off Off Broadway to Off Broadway to Broadway
