The Blue Bedspread:

The Blue Bedspread Raj Kamal Jha, 2012-06-20 A midnight phone call awakens a man to inform him that his sister has died in childbirth. He is told he must keep the orphaned baby girl overnight until her new adopting parents can collect her. Over the course of that hot night in Calcutta the man hurriedly writes stories to the baby sleeping on a blue bedspread in the next room. Stories of the family she was born into, stories of the mother she will never know. Painting half-remembered scenes, he flits between past and present, recounting tales of the shared childhood of a boy and his sister who muffled their fears in the blueness of that very same bedspread. As the hours pass, the man gradually divulges a layered and transfixing confession of the darkest of family secrets. Described by John Fowles as remarkable almost a coming of age of the Indian novel, this powerful penetrating debut by a young New Delhi journalist has already been recognized as an international literary event. In prose that is breathtaking and precise, Raj Kamal Jha discovers the hidden violence and twisted eroticism of an exotic, overcrowded old city. Unlike the India captured in the exotic prose of Salman Rushdie and Arundhati Roy, Jha writes in a spare, straightforward style that has prompted comparisons to American realists like Raymond Carver and Don DeLillo. The Blue Bedspread is a searingly honest story about the love and hope that can survive in the midst of family violence. It is a first novel of extraordinary power and humanity.

The Blue Bedspread Raj Kamal Jha, 2000 In a house on a Calcutta street lit by the half light of a yellow street lamp lies a baby, one day old, wrapped in its hospital towel. In the next room sits a man alone writing. Who is this man, at once frightened and determined? What is he writing? Where has the baby come from and where will it go? Tonight these questions will be answered when the man unravels the dark secrets he has carried all his life. A ghostly, elliptical piece of prose of quite magical quality which tells the story of one man's reconciliation with his past. It is undeniably powerful. Edward Marriott, Evening Standard. Enchanting. Jha is not afraid to risk emotion, but he never falls into the trap of sentimentality. That is in itself a considerable achievement. Andrew Biswell, Daily Telegraph. Jha has a real knack for narrative, alternating urgency and delay to the point where his virtuoso handling of the story becomes almost tricky. He is a remarkable writer. Phil Baker, Sunday Times. A powerful, haunting and sometimes shocking novel that deserves to be read at one sitting and then re-read. Cormac Kinsella, Irish Times. This is an incantatory, audacious book, notable for great moments of poignancy. Baret Magarian, Guardian. Shortlisted for the Guardian First Book Award, Winner of the Best First Book Commonwealth Writers Award for the Eurasia region.
