Annotating Modernism Amanda Golden, 2020-05-04 Making extensive use of archival materials by Sylvia Plath John Berryman and Anne Sexton Amanda Golden reframes the relationship between modernism and midcentury poetry While Golden situates her book among other materialist histories of modernism she moves beyond the examination of published works to address poets annotations in their personal copies of modernist texts A consideration of the dynamics of literary influence Annotating Modernism analyzes the teaching strategies of midcentury poets and the ways they read modernists like T S Eliot James Joyce Ezra Pound Virginia Woolf and W B Yeats Situated within a larger rethinking of modernism Golden s study illustrates the role of midcentury poets in shaping modernist discourse

The Art of Confession Christopher Grobe, 2017-11-07 The story of a new style of art and a new way of life in postwar America confessionalism What do midcentury confessional poets have in common with today s reality TV stars They share an inexplicable urge to make their lives an open book and also a sense that this book can never be finished Christopher Grobe argues that in postwar America artists like these forged a new way of being in the world Identity became a kind of work always ongoing never complete to be performed on the public stage The Art of Confession tells the history of this cultural shift and of the movement it created in American art confessionalism Like realism or romanticism confessionalism began in one art form but soon pervaded them all poetry and comedy in the 1950s and 60s performance art in the 70s theater in the 80s television in the 90s and online video and social media in the 2000s Everywhere confessionalism went it stood against autobiography the art of the closed book Instead of just publishing these artists performed with around and against the text of their lives A blend of cultural history literary criticism and performance theory The Art of Confession explores iconic works of art and draws surprising connections among artists who may seem far apart but who were influenced directly by one another Studying extraordinary art alongside ordinary experiences of self betrayal and revelation Christopher Grobe argues that a tradition of confessional performance unites poets with comedians performance artists with social media users reality TV stars with actors and all of them with us There is art this book shows in our most artless acts

The Performance and Interrogation of 'Generic Lives' and Gendered Selves in the Confessional Poetry of John Berryman and Anne Sexton Elena Mertel, 2019-09-11 Bachelor Thesis from the year 2017 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies Literature grade 1 3 University of Dusseldorf Heinrich Heine language English abstract This thesis aims to examine the interrogation and performance of generic lives and gendered selves in the poetry of John Berryman and Anne Sexton In doing so I will give answers to the following questions In how far did social norms influence the lyrical I s way of thinking and acting Or were those societal restrictions excluded from the isolated situation of the poem Are gender conventions more present in poems featuring a female persona Not more than 60 years ago North America was strongly biased with unrealistic gender roles Women were stereotyped as housewives whose greatest struggles were keeping husband and children satisfied the household and their good looking However thousands of women missed to meet those expectations and considered themselves as individual failures However not only women suffered from social etiquette that was imposed on them The excessive promotion of virility equally troubled many men Then in the 1960s there was a significant change Influenced by the radical formations of various citizen movements gender concepts were challenged not only in a political context but also within the arts For the first time after centuries poetry again dealt with political issues This was the time of the Beats and the Confessional Poets The latter group is often associated with poets such as John Berryman Robert Lowell Sylvia Plath and Anne Sexton The works of Berryman and Sexton will be examined in more depth Both of them used their poems to express their personal views on the conventions of the period What was intended to serve as a form of self therapy turned into poetic empowerment for many Americans who experienced similar circumstances but were too afraid to talk about it publicly In this respect Anne Sexton has often been considered as a precursor of following feminist movements The lyric of the male poets of the time however has mostly been ignored in this context Both poets were working during the 1950s and 60s both experienced socially imposed gender treatments both lived the generic life The expression refers to the seemingly predetermined lifestyle of these poets including parental difficulties in their childhood excessive alcohol and drug abuse mental disorders publicly displayed affairs as well as suicidal tendencies While Sexton s poetry continuously tackles the problem of gender conventions Berryman s remarks on the topic are rather subtle

Reading and Writing

Confessional Poetry David Rutherford McGraw,2018 This dissertation is comprised of a creative component and a critical component The creative component is presented in the form of a sequence of twenty seven confessional poems This sequence of poems is composed under the formative influence of the works of various confessional poets which include but are not limited to Robert Lowell Anne Sexton and Sylvia Plath Sylvia Plath's „Lady Lazarus“. Cultural and social context Anne Runkel,2009-05-18 Seminar paper from the year 2008 in the subject American Studies Literature grade keine University of Hamburg course American Poetry Poetics language English abstract The name of Sylvia Plath is intrinsically tied to the literary movement of Confessional Poetry Her poem Lady Lazarus is often regarded as the prime example of this genre as it is an apparent forecast of Plath s suicide Middlebrook 644 only one year later But the idea of a confessional poetry that directly refers to the poet s personal experience has lead Plath Criticism astray for many years Critics have discussed Plath s life and work as if they were exactly the same thing and have drawn bizarre conclusions by assuming that Plath s writing can be used as a reliable source for diagnosing her mental condition It is obvious that this kind of immediate understanding of Confessional Poetry leads nowhere As Tracy Brain puts it in her essay about the dangers of reading Sylvia Plath s work as an unfiltered outpour of personal experience Dangerous Concessions Sylvia Plath How can we ever hope to distinguish the extreme diction and address that is prompted by lived events from a vividly imagined drama that is the result of an expertly assumed style The answer is We cannot Still one should not altogether ignore the context of the Confessional movement when interpreting Sylvia Plath But how can Confessional Poetry be dealt with without getting caught in the traps and pitfalls of a biographic reading This essay will first try to detect the underlying principles of the so called Confessional Poetry and position it within literary history By revealing some of the influences and conventions of Confessional Poetry it aims to uncover the deceiving strategies of this type of poetry The subsequent interpretation of Sylvia Plath s Lady Lazarus will then try to concentrate on the cultural and social context the poem was produce in and examine in which ways Plath used these different contexts as well as the deceiving strategies of Confessional Poetry in general to create the unique character of the poem The Confessional Poets Vanessa Shalkey,2012
