The Devotion Field Poems:

The Devotion Field Claudia Keelan, 2004 This lively fourth collection should excite Keelan's fans and earn her new ones

The Devotion Field Claudia Keelan, 2004-09-01 The experimental and L A N G U A G E influence is clear yet The Devotion Field offers in a number of urban elegies more narrative and personal though still political detail than has been Keelan's habit Full of cultural and social critique the poems concern themselves with the artifice of language the art of being and the art of art the fragmentation and continuous flux of contemporary life She employs trademark techniques stream of consciousness free association and associative leaps in addition to a new emphasis on melody and musical phrasing Antique She brought the teapot because it was broken broken still valuable A thing not available to her otherwise On its restored surface a pastoral Flickered once Too late She was not honest but she was a poet Mending the broken valuable What absolute nonsense cried the Earthworm Nothing Is ever all right in the end and well you know it Poor Earthworm Ladybug whispered Loving all that is disaster Bellydown breathing with it everafter Claudia Keelan's The Devotion Field fully confirms the promise of her earlier books especially the recent Utopic The quotidian world of what seems to be things dog food and soil dust and bits of paper flows naturally and luminously into the world of ideas which becomes even more palpable Into the possibilities of the next page Or more nearly another day The transit returning us to where we always are is breathtaking John Ashbery Claudia Keelan is the author of three previous prize winning collections of poetry She teaches in the MFA and Ph D programs at the University of Nevada Las Vegas and is the editor of Interim

Poems of Adoration Michael Field, 2021-11-05 In Poems of Adoration Michael Field intricately weaves together themes of love devotion and spirituality through a collection of evocative verses that resonate with profound emotional depth The book showcases Field's masterful command of lyricism and imagery employing a lush and sensuous style that transports the reader into a realm of intimate contemplation Positioned within the context of late 19th century literary movements these poems reflect the aestheticism and emotional intensity characteristic of the era inviting readers to explore the sacred dimensions of human experience through a relationship with the divine Michael Field the pen name of sisters Katharine Bradley and Edith Cooper was a pioneering figure in the realm of female poetic voices during a time dominated by male literary expressions Their shared commitment to exploring introspective and experiential themes is evident in this compilation which draws upon their own diverse backgrounds in art and literature Their unique perspectives on gender and sexuality also inform the spiritual and romantic nature of their work unveiling layers of significance in their verses that speak to broader societal shifts Poems of Adoration is highly recommended for readers seeking an immersive poetic experience that challenges conventional boundaries and celebrates the profundity of love and spirituality Field's beautifully crafted language and insightful themes make this collection essential reading for enthusiasts of early modern poetry and those interested in the intersection of art and intimate human connections

or tell an old story in a new way but for Katharine Bradley and Edith Cooper who wrote as Michael Field and called themselves Poets and Lovers rewriting old stories history and traditional literary forms with extraordinary innovation was nothing short of high art Offering new readings of a wide range of Michael Field texts this book asks how do ambitious experiments with a joint diary closet drama ekphrasis elegy and nature devotional and love poetry help these women navigate the paradox of looking backward in order to achieve their goal to make all things new How do their revisionary poetics help the co authors as queer female Aesthetes cope with late Victorian modernity Through an interdisciplinary approach to their passionate and sometimes eccentric life and work this book provokes thought about the fin de siecle and invites readers like Michael Field themselves to engage the past in order to create transtemporal community and to make sense of the present

The Rag-Picker's Guide to Poetry Eleanor Wilner, Maurice Manning, 2013-11-11 The venture of this inviting collection is to look from the many vantages that the 35 poets in this eclectic anthology chose to look at what it was knowing that a poem can't be conceived in advance of its creation that helped their poems to emerge or connected them over time The Rag Picker's Guide to Poetry permits an inside view of how poets outwit internal censors and habits of thought showing how the meticulous and the spontaneous come together in the process of discovery Within are contained the work and thoughts of Betty Adcock Joan Aleshire Debra Allbery Elizabeth Arnold David Baker Rick Barot Marianne Boruch Karen Brennan Gabrielle Calvocoressi Michael Collier Carl Dennis Stuart Dischell Roger Fanning Chris Forhan Reginald Gibbons Linda Gregerson Jennifer Grotz Brooks Haxton Tony Hoagland Mark Jarman A Van Jordan Laura Kasischke Mary Leader Dana Levin James Longenbach Thomas Lux Maurice Manning Heather McHugh Martha Rhodes Alan Shapiro Daniel Tobin Ellen Bryant Voigt Alan Williamson Eleanor Wilner C Dale Young
