Garrison, 2013-10-18 Computers have changed the landscape of both gathering and disseminating information throughout the world As journalists move quickly toward the 21st century and perhaps a new era of electronic journalism they need resources to understand the newest and most successful computer based news reporting strategies This book is designed to show both professional journalists and students which of the newest personal computing tools are being used by the nation s leading news organizations and top individual journalists It describes how these resources are being used on a daily basis and for special projects The book assumes a minimal familiarity with computers but no advanced knowledge of computer operation Journalism, Reporting, Writing and Editing Rowan Kidd, 2018-01-25 The present book has been brought into being in view of incessant demand pertaining to the subject Journalism inherently requires that stories be told in depth Many newspapers have cut out long articles even before the Internet They have followed the example set by television news

They have been hit by the rising price of newsprint and the renewed emphasis on cost cutting They are convinced that readers are pressed for time impatient with detail and conditioned to ingest the news in pellet like form The bulk of broadcast news is reporting in the sense that is used is different rather than journalism It is epitomized by the two minute wire service radio bulletin on the hour already a fast disappearing format In this incisive and well presented work the book has synthesized the findings to lay down principles of sound journalism for both those in the industry and the citizens who rely on the free press as a fundamental element of democracy First and foremost among these principles is journalism s obligation to the truth It will immensely benefit students teachers mass communicators theoreticians and practitioners alike Something usable today a ready reckoner for years to come and a collector s item for all times A must read enduring and preservable
