Suddenly a Mortal Splendor Alexander Blackburn, 2015-08-21 Suddenly a Mortal Splendor is the chronicle of Hungarian refugee Paul Szabo's unpromising beginnings and varied journey through three continents and thirty five years. It is a story of shifting identities of political and personal oppression and a novel with roots firmly grounded in the picaresque tradition. Suddenly a Mortal Splendor Alexander Blackburn, 1995 Money, power, and the games people play are portrayed in this picaresque examination of one man and the survival of his innocence and ideals in a ruthless and confusing world. Considered a literary work. A Study Guide for Robinson Jeffers's "Shine, Perishing Republic" Gale, Cengage Learning, 2016 A Study Guide for Robinson Jeffers's Shine, Perishing Republic excerpted from Gale's acclaimed Poetry for Students. This concise study guide includes plot summary, character analysis, author biography, study questions, historical context, suggestions for further reading, and much more. The Body Is a Doorway: A Memoir Sophie Strand, 2025-03-04 A LIT HUB MOST ANTICIPATED BOOK OF 2025 In this lyrical, radically expansive self-portrait, celebrated poet, author, and lecturer Sophie Strand explores with searing insight and honesty the intersecting spaces of her own chronic illness, the complex ecology of a changing world, and the very nature of the stories we tell ourselves. At age sixteen, Sophie Strand, bright, agile, fearless, is suddenly beset by unexplained, debilitating illness while on a family trip abroad. Her once vibrant life becomes a tangled miasma of medication, specialists, anaphylaxis, and seemingly never-ending attempts to explain what has gone so terribly wrong. And for many years thereafter, Sophie's life becomes subsumed with ideas not of health but of explanation and the narrative of how and why she became sick. But slowly, through both profound fatigue with the medical industrial complex and a deeply entwined relationship with the natural world, she comes to another, more fundamental understanding of what has happened to her body. What if sickness is not a separation from the body? What if health is not quite so easy to see? What if physical pain leaves us no choice but to return to our bodies, the pinpricks and lightning of illness stitching us back into a physical presence our society has taught us to ignore? In a work both expansively tender and shockingly frank, Sophie Strand offers readers a window onto her own winding journey through the maze of chronic illness, a web not unlike those created by the mycorrhizal fungi whose networks she begins to see as a metaphor for the profound connections between all species and the earth. Grounded deeply in the mountains of the Hudson Valley, each moment of this far-reaching narrative snakes its way through the multi-layered ecology of the land around us, from the stunningly powerful pollen of a phlox plant to the unexpected beauty and wisdom of the woodchuck. The Body Is a Doorway dives into the murky waters of sickness and trauma, as well as the resonant challenges and joys of friendship, young adulthood, first love, and fertility. Throughout, in precise, sparkling language, it explores questions both personal and universal: Is there healing beyond the human? Beyond the hope for a cure or a happy ending? Is there something wilder and more symbiotic beyond narrow ideas of well-being? An Anthology of American Poetry Alfred
