The book summarizes current knowledge on the cellular and molecular aspects of the aging immune system and their clinical relevance, providing insights into the effects of the aging process on susceptibilities to those diseases most common among elders. The retrieval strategies used to slow down the decline in the immune system in the elderly are another subject detailed extensively. By providing a broad overview of immunosenescence and its consequences, as well as their potential modulation, this book will fill a gap in a timely manner. It will be of value to all immunologists, whether novice or experienced, as well as geriatricians and epidemiologists.

Inequality and Organizational Practice Stefanos Nachmias, Valerie Caven, 2019-03-28. Bringing together international authors, this edited collection addresses the need for greater inclusivity within organizational policy and practice in order to tackle both visible and invisible inequalities amongst employees. Evidence suggests that more positive employment relationships can be brought about by tackling diversity issues, yet there are still grey areas existing in the current legislative framework. Volume I explores the way that these hidden inequalities can be used to identify an individual as other and how this ultimately affects their wellbeing and welfare at work. Analysing social justice and stigma as well as nuanced issues within the workplace this book is a thought provoking read for scholars of HRM practitioners and policy makers
