This evolved into a broad family of fonts that range from the lively Eleven Century Minors. This is the body, dating back with a wealth of exceptionally readable middle weights that have all the schoolhouse charm and warmth of the original Century, but with a fresh spin that defines them in the age of "sans" and "neo." Best agrees that that was the goal. "The best work was striking the balance between illustrative lettering and typographical necessities." 122

Eleven has greater thick to thin contrast (most noticeable in the exclamation point) and a narrower ascender, which puts more emphasis on its ball terminal details (look at the "r" and "v" and the aforementioned "ten" in its weight here give it a more looting. 122

Eleven Century Minors is a beautiful typeface that blends the major genres of serif: the Clarendon and the Scotch. It is an excellent design, full of warmth and subtle design details. 122

It shows the same character of the Eleven sample from which it derives its name, and because of that it is a somewhat odd look to find in an exemplar of this font that covers other dramatic specimens for the ten level of work related to Clarendon and Roy Green. 122
