Language in Cognition Pieter A. M. Seuren,2009-02-26 Language in Cognition argues that language is based on the human construal of reality Humans refer to and quantify over virtual entities with the same ease as they do over actual entities the natural ontology of language the author argues must therefore comprise both actual and virtual entities and situations He reformulates speech act theory suggesting that the primary function of language is less the transfer of information than the establishing of socially binding commitments or appeals based on the proposition expressed This leads him first to a new analysis of the systems and structures of cognitive language machinery and their ecological embedding and finally to a reformulation of the notion of meaning in which sentence meaning is distinguished from lexical meaning and the vagaries and multifarious applications of lexical meanings may be explained and understood This is the first of a two volume foundational study of language published under the title Language from Within Pieter Seuren discusses and analyses such apparently diverse issues as the ontology underlying the semantics of language speech act theory intensionality phenomena the machinery and ecology of language sentential and lexical meaning the natural logic of language and cognition and the intrinsically context sensitive nature of language and shows them to be intimately linked Throughout his ambitious enterprise he maintains a constant dialogue with established views reflecting on their development from Ancient Greece to the present The resulting synthesis concerns central aspects of research and theory in linguistics philosophy and cognitive science

A Nation Too Good to Lose Joe Clark, 1994 We've all heard the news report In fact we've heard them for most of the past thirty years Alarmingly and inexorably the unthinkable has become a very real prospect The nation that is Canada as we know it may not make it into the next decade And we think that we no longer care That perhaps it's for the best Or at the very least that there will be an end to this ceaseless wrangling and we can get on with our lives This is a dangerous course For what we wish for might just happen In A Nation Too Good To Lose former prime minister and senior statesman the Right Honourable Joe Clark argues eloquently and passionately that we are deluding ourselves if we think that the breakup of Canada will not have severe consequences for us all The economy will be devastated We will be marginalized and lose both our competitive edge and our standing on the world stage We will not escape more constitutional negotiations for how will we structure a Canada without Quebec Mr Clark contends that underlying the politics of frustration there is in fact a widespread consensus among Canadians on what Canada should be and how a new kind of federalism could be shaped And he warmly shares his personal experiences and views that have led him to this conclusion and to the fact that Canada can still be saved Page 4 of cover
