Slipstream A Daughter Remembers:

Slipstream Rachel Manley, 2000 In the wake of her beloved father's death Rachel Manley turned inward to try to understand him and to explore the impact of those final moments Michael Manley charismatic controversial prime minister of Jamaica had stood at the heart of a decade of radical social reform in the 70s From the vantage of her father's bedside during his last six months of life his daughter searches the shadows that he cast on her as a child and as a woman the shadows that familiarly touch daughters and fathers but are inevitably thrown more fiercely by famous parents over their children With honesty and deep feeling she shares her love and pain and explores how the enduring bonds that held them were tested time and again not only by the ordinary conflicts of family life but by the heavy demands of the political arena and by a succession of five marriages The Slipstream is a shining portrait of one man's enormous heart and undying spirit and a testament to the ways in which courage and love can inspire us all to soar

The Oxford History of the Novel in English Simon Gikandi, 2016-10-03 The Novel in Africa and the Caribbean since 1950 examines the institutional and social peculiarities that make fiction produced in Africa and the Atlantic World since 1950 important to the history of the novel in English

Encyclopedia of Post-Colonial Literatures in English Eugene Benson, 2004-11-30 Documents the history and development of Post colonial literatures in English together with English and American literature and includes original research relating to the literatures of some 50 countries and territories In more than 1 600 entries written by more than 600 internationally recognized scholars it explores the effect of the colonial and post colonial experience on literatures in English worldwide

The Confounding Island Orlando Patterson, 2019-11-12 The preeminent sociologist and National Book Award winning author of Freedom in the Making of Western Culture grapples with the paradox of his homeland its remarkable achievements amid continuing struggles since independence There are few places more puzzling than Jamaica Jamaicans claim their home has more churches per square mile than any other country yet it is one of the most murderous nations in the world Its reggae superstars and celebrity sprinters outshine musicians and athletes in countries hundreds of times its size Jamaica's economy is anemic and too many of its people impoverished yet they are according to international surveys some of the happiest on earth In The Confounding Island Orlando Patterson returns to the place of his birth to reckon with its history and culture Patterson investigates the failures of Jamaica's postcolonial democracy exploring why the country has been unable to achieve broad economic growth and why its free elections and stable government have been unable to address violence and poverty He takes us inside the island's passion for cricket and the unparalleled international success of its local musical traditions He offers a fresh answer to a question that has bedeviled sports fans Why are Jamaican runners so fast Jamaica's successes and struggles expose something fundamental about the world we live in If we look closely at the Jamaican example we see the central dilemmas of globalization economic development poverty reduction and postcolonial politics thrown into stark relief

interviews essays and reviews on such well known writers as Ken Burns Dionne Brand Austin Clarke and Edwidge Danticat constitutes a frank conversation on the significance of race in the work of contemporary Black artists Auto/Biography across the Americas Ricia A. Chansky, 2016-08-05 Auto biographical narratives of the Americas are marked by the underlying themes of movement and belonging This collection proposes that the impact of the historic or contemporary movement of peoples to in and from the Americas whether chosen or forced motivates the ways in which identities are constructed in this contested space Such movement results in a cyclical quest to belong and to understand belonging that reverberates through narratives of the Americas The volume brings together essays written from diverse national cultural linguistic and disciplinary perspectives to trace these transnational motifs in life writing across the Americas Drawing on international scholars from the seemingly disparate regions of the Americas North America the Caribbean and Latin America this book extends critical theories of life writing beyond limiting national boundaries The scholarship included approaches narrative inquiry from the fields of literature linguistics history art history sociology anthropology political science pedagogy gender studies critical race studies and indigenous studies As a whole this volume advances discourse in auto biography studies life writing and identity studies by locating transnational themes in narratives of the Americas and placing them in international and interdisciplinary conversations Guyana and the Caribbean Frank Birbalsingh, 2004 The Antigonish Review, 2002 Slipstream, 1995 Quill & Quire, 2008 Daddy Sharpe Fred W. Kennedy, 2008 Daddy Sharpe is a unique work of Caribbean fiction It is the result of five years of historical research details of which have been used to recreate a narrative of the life of one of Jamaica's National Heroes Samuel Sharpe Locked in prison awaiting a sentence of certain execution Samuel Sharpe retells the story of his life in the first person narrative beginning with his boyhood days at Cooper's Hill in St James and ending with his surrender to the authorities after his defeat in the Great Jamaican Slave Revolt of 1831 These flashbacks are interwoven with present time musings while he is in prison The reader becomes immediately engaged in the character of the hero and his struggles for spiritual and physical freedom but is also fascinated by the descriptions and historical details of life in Jamaica in the early nineteenth century The First Man in My Life Sandra Martin, 2007 N 22 narratives some of Canada's most acclaimed writers share stories memories insights and revelations from the comic to the tragic about the first man in their lives Complex compelling and unforgettable Narrative Wars with My Cousin Rachel Lara Mordecai, 2007 Beyond Fragmentation Juanita De Barros, Audra Diptee, David Vincent Trotman, 2006 In this book leading scholars pull together some of the most recent research on the key themes of Caribbean history slavery the transition to freedom colonialism and decolonization Although all parts of the Caribbean experienced these phases the manner in which they did so differed significantly in part because of their distinct imperial histories Contemporary fragmentation and insularity have led to significant variations in the region's historiography The contributors examine the divergent historiographical and methodological developments in the British French Spanish and Dutch Caribbean By addressing these four linguistic areas of the Caribbean they aim to overcome the traditional differences imposed by language and in the process to explore hotly debated subjects and new directions in Caribbean scholarship
