The Iron Gates:

The Iron Gates of Santo Tomas Emily Van Sickle, 2016-05-01 A gripping memoir documenting one couple's experience being imprisoned by the Japanese on a Philippine college campus during World War II. This is a gripping eyewitness account of internment during World War II in the Philippines. Van Sickle and her husband Charles were among a group of foreigners who found themselves in the wrong place at the wrong time. Trapped in Manila after its surrender to the Japanese in 1942, they were incarcerated in the vast forty-eight-acre campus of Santo Tom's University, the only place in the city large enough to accommodate all the prisoners. The university grounds were enclosed on three sides by high concrete walls and iron bars. Santo Tom's turned out to be a made-to-order concentration camp. Every day spent on this seventeenth-century campus was a struggle for survival. Van Sickle offers a fascinating, detailed, and insightful account of life at Santo Tom's. The prisoners, 5,000 at the outset, were thrown on their own resources for food and the simplest types of comfort. The internment camp became a kind of school of human relations; additional curricula forced upon the prisoners, the author says, good humoredly were Entomology (the science of bed bugs), Structural Engineering (the art of sleeping on a cot), Chemistry (or washing clothes), Philosophy (or waiting in line), Industrial Engineering (opening a can), Physical Education (or the missing drink). As they suffered together, the internees managed to form a community of sorts that sustained them until their liberation in February 1945. Van Sickle's story is unique and personal; her retelling of the camp's liberation is dramatic and powerful. Praise for The Iron Gates of Santo Tomas: Involving memoir of a woman caught with her husband behind enemy lines after the fall of Manila in WW II. A valuable addition to the history of WW II. Kirkus Reviews: The story is unique and fascinating to read. A well-written memoir. Library Journal: Through the Iron Gates Betty Pawson, 2000

The Iron Gates in Prehistory Clive Bonsall, Vasile Boroneanț, Ivana Radovanović, 2008. This book had its origins in a symposium held at the University of Edinburgh from 30 March to 2 April 2000, which was attended by archaeologists with a shared interest in the prehistory of the small but distinctive region of Southeast Europe known as the Iron Gates. In the broad sense, the area refers to the section of the Danube valley where the river forms the modern political border between Serbia and Romania, and this definition is adopted for the present volume. First and foremost, the volume is intended to illustrate the immense research potential of the Iron Gates region. A second objective is to provide case studies that illustrate the nature of current research and the rich possibilities offered by the growing range of scientific techniques available to archaeologists and their application to existing archaeological collections.
