Tropo Architecture For The Top End:

Tropo Philip Goad,1999 Tropo Architects traces the evolution of these singular architects from their colourful and occasionally polemical early days in Darwin through to their acceptance as one of Australia's most admired practices

Tropo Architects Tropo Architects, Philip Goad,2005 This is the story of two architects who went tropo but in doing so found another state

Project tropical houses for Australias top end to $70,000 order of cost (Darwin). Tropo Architects,1990 Designs for houses in tropical areas Jang Wong Daniel has specialised in Aboriginal Community Architecture projects

Towards Zero-energy Architecture Mary Guzowski,2010-10-11 This book explores the theories practices and principles of new approaches to solar architecture that foster both design excellence and low energy use In response to the challenges of global warming and climate change design and technology enable architects to achieve greater performance standards while at the same time developing an environmental aesthetic The book showcases ten award winning buildings to illustrate the aesthetic and technological design integration of solar response in contemporary zero energy and low energy architecture For each project there is a detailed examination of the local climate the design and construction and the technology used to reduce energy use Towards Zero energy Architecture is a much needed call for the design professions to redefine architecture to help solve ecological problems

70/80/90 Iconic Australian Houses Karen McCartney,2014-11-01 In this follow up to the design classic 50 60 70 Iconic Australian Houses Karen McCartney founding editor of interiors magazine Inside Out has compiled a selection of significant examples of Australian houses of the 1970s 80s and 90s each brilliantly photographed and with a depth of coverage rarely seen before Featured architects include Richard Leplastrier Glenn Murcutt and Wood Marsh A detailed introduction places the period in social historical and architectural context before each of the selected houses is individually reviewed in an informed and engaging style In each example the relationship between the architect and owner is discussed as is the linking of the building to its site materials and architectural detailing The author has interviewed many architects and owners for their personal insights Each study includes a feature on the interior decoration and a discussion of designers and manufacturers of iconic furniture fittings and fabrics

70 80 90 Iconic Australian Houses features stunning photography by Michael Wee both panoramic and detailed throughout The homes from these three decades form a significant part of Australian architectural history

Pattern, Contingency and Lifestyle Jessica Hsiao-Li Huang,2016 Tropo Architects a multi award winning practice originally established in Darwin in the tropical Top End of Australia in 1980 has long been regarded as a leader among a small vanguard of Australian architects focused on climatically responsive design Over a period of three decades founding partners Phil Harris and Adrian Welke grew and incrementally expanded the practice to five regional offices Darwin Townsville Adelaide Byron Bay and Perth across Australia Whilst the practice has had to adapt in order to address and respond to a greatly expanded range of both climatic and socio cultural variations in context

it has continued to attract outstanding critical acclaim including a Global Award for International Sustainable Architecture in 2010 and the Gold Medal of the Australian Institute of Architects AIA in 2014 How this design practice has succeeded in sustaining its own internal cohesion through such a process of major organisational growth and change while it has also sustained its capacity to respond effectively to context and clients needs in a distinctive and exemplary manner is the multifaceted question explored in this thesis The study focuses exclusively on Troppo s single family houses It investigates how residential designs from the regional offices in the decade up to 2014 relate to the ideas and values that Harris and Welke espoused in their first decade of practice in Darwin Through a theoretical framework that engages this work with concepts of pattern language contingency and responsive cohesion between designs and their physical and psychological contexts the study offers insight into relationships between Troppo s design ideas their values and their attitudes to space place culture and the quality of delight in environments for everyday living Fieldwork based and centred on a cluster of comprehensive case studies the methodology also includes extensive interviews with both the architects and the residents of the houses in question formal analysis of original design documentation as well as the built and occupied houses observation of design processes within the different regional Troppo offices and the most thorough examination yet undertaken of the archives of the Troppo practice PART 1 presents an initial historical overview of the Troppo practice the aims and objectives of the research and a review of the relevant literatures underpinning the theoretical framework and methodologies to be applied PART 2 first discerns and describes a pattern language that is observed to have emerged from a corpus of Darwin houses designed and built in the first decade of the Troppo practice through the 1980s Identifying visually distinctive patterns in plan or form for particular spatial functions as well as psychological spaces associated with particular sensory experiences the thesis reconstructs the original contexts and design reasoning in and through which these patterns were first explored Representative houses designed and built by each of Troppo s regional offices in the past decade up to 2014 are then examined in a series of five comprehensive case studies These map the relationships between these later houses and Troppo s early residential commissions in Darwin PART 3 then discusses the similarities and differences between the respective formal languages of these regionally dispersed cases and the early houses with respect to the broader theoretical foci and the framework of the study pattern contingency responsive cohesion The thesis concludes with a brief overview of the key findings of the study and their implications for contemporary architectural practice and education and for further research in those sub fields The thesis shows how the design of Troppo s houses reflects a process of cohesion between architects and owners around shared values and aspirations for delight in the spaces within houses and for experiencing close links with nature It also reveals the critical importance of mentoring in the relationships between Harris and Welke the regional directors and their clients It also shows how the practice has negotiated conflict between its values and the realities of commercial practice in diverse regional offices with changing client expectations code requirements and building costs

New Directions in Australian Architecture Philip Goad, Patrick Bingham-Hall, 2005 Showcasing the work of 14 of Australia's most exciting architectural firms the text and photos in this book point to a revolutionary design style Architects featured in the book include Andresen O Gorman ARM Donovan Hill Engelen Moore Sean Godsell Jones Coulter Young Lyons Architects Stutchbury each designer's chapter includes an introduction explaining the technique and importance of their work Mindful of history but with an eye toward the future the buildings in New Directions in Australian Architecture bring to readers the best of both worlds product description The Architectural Review, 1999 Award Winning Australian Architecture Neville Quarry, 1997 For each award compact illustrations and the jury report serve as an important source of record and stimulation for anyone interested in understanding and appreciating architecture The commentary essays which introduce each category of the awards set up a potential discourse for airing differences of interpretation leading to critical comparisons and proactive debate among architectural observers and participants inside cover Australian Built Michael Griggs, 1985 Australian Architecture Now Davina Jackson, Chris Johnson, 2000 Having just completed the most significant five year construction phase in the nation's history Australian architecture has moved into the world spotlight During the 1994-99 boom creative vigor was palpable confidence surged and the entire continent became endowed with a new sense of architectural independence Because it scans a diverse and momentary scene instead of recording a longer continuum of major achievements Australian Architecture Now is an unusual history book It presents two essays 21 case studies of outstanding public and domestic projects and in several brief chapters compares selected buildings according to similarities of either genre or style Close examination reveals surprising evidence that Australian architecture more often reflects the personal styles and attitudes of its creators than the poetic ideal of a unique sense of place Architects featured include Denton Corker Marshall Harry Seidler Gabriel Poole Rex Addison Peter Stutchbury Cox Sanderson Ness Nonda Katsalidis Sean Godsell Alexander Tzannes and more The Bulletin, 1994 Home Front Lucy Bullivant, 2003-09-11 Practical technical and topical this new title from Architectural Design brings together contributions on all aspects of housing around the world from design solutions to the focus on technical and cultural approaches to affordable innovation in housing design Housing for the people What opportunities exist Who is breaking down the boundaries to create innovative housing stock Attitudes towards mass housing are changing Progressive techniques materials and technologies are opening up new possibilities and new alliances are being hammered out between designers and house builders Could this signal the onset of a new era of design conscious mass housing With contributors writing from six distinct geographical areas the UK the East Coast of the US the West Coast of the US Sweden Japan and Australia this book provides a global picture of the kinds of solutions available Architectural Publications Index, 2003 □□□□□, 2007 Art Centre Architecture Kate Goodwin, 2024-06-03 This book examines the architecture of Aboriginal art centres in the Northern Territory Art centres emerged in Australia in the 1970s alongside Aboriginal self determination and the rise of the Indigenous art market Primarily located in remote communities and towns their economic and social value has been widely acknowledged Together with supporting artists and facilitating the production and sale of art works they provide an invaluable safe space for community to come together and to practice Culture Art centres occupy existing adapted or purpose designed buildings often developed over time with varying degrees of architect involvement While each art centre is specific to Country and community they share commonalities in their activities facilities and architectural strategies This study provides a contextual introduction to art centres and remote communities in the Northern Territory It documents and analyses the architecture of twelve centres across diverse regions from the Tiwi Islands and the tropical Top End to the Central Desert The study identifies some of the key factors impacting building outcomes and pinpoints ideas that can inform discussions between architects community and funding bodies As well as the architectural profession it is intended as an informative document for those involved in art centres and anyone interested in these unique hybrid entities
