Truth Has No Alternative:

Depth Psychology, Interpretation, and the Bible Brayton Polka, 2001-02-12 Polka also raises the larger issue of the relationship between modernity hermeneutics and biblical ontology He argues that the origins and structure of modern values can be understood only through a theory of hermeneutics whose ontology overcomes the dualism between the secular and the religious between philosophy and religion Polka shows this to be possible when biblical ontology is understood to be at once rational and faithful secular and religious He uses the work of Spinoza Kant Hegel and Kierkegaard to articulate the ontological framework that makes clear how typically modern Freud is in being unable to account for the relationship of his thought to biblical religion Polka argues that Freudian metapsychology precisely because it cannot account for its own principles of explanation contradicts the insights of depth psychology Paradoxically religion returns in Freud as the repressed as it does in so much of modern thought Polka shows that what is therefore required is a hermeneutical theory whose ontological articulation of biblical religion is critically self conscious Religiously Exclusive, Socially Inclusive

Bernhard Reitsma, Erika Nes-Visscher, 2025-10-01 Is it possible to be religiously exclusive and socially inclusive How do we deal with those outside of our own religious community who have completely different and sometimes conflicting views on what should be considered true and right behaviour What if a religious tradition orders the expulsion or killing of those who leave the faith community and adopt another worldview This book focuses on biblical texts concerning exclusivity and apostasy studying different interpretations of such texts It starts with the Jewish and Christian tradition of the Hebrew Bible continues with texts from the New Testament and explores diverse social studies to find ways of understanding the relationship between exclusion and inclusion today Part of this exploration is the interaction with Jewish and Islamic voices The collection ends with a systematic and missiological reflection on the issues Christian churches and other religious communities must address today

The Quest for the Description of the Law Reidar Edvinsson, 2008-09-27 My dissertation for LL.D. or J.S.D. Att beskriva rätten To Describe Law which was written under my bachelor surname of Andersson was presented for public examination on Nov 4 2004 Since then the text has been developed in two separate directions On the one hand three of the chapters have been made more accessible to students of jurisprudence and have been included in the second edition of the textbook Rättsfilosofi samhälle och moral genom tiderna edited by Joakim Nergelius On the other hand the whole dissertation has been revised translated and published as the present book In the time that has passed since my dissertation many things have changed On the personal level my friend and tutor Aleksander Peczenick was sadly taken away from my circle of colleagues In contrast to that sad event I have spent two nine month periods on paternity leave raising my two children Selma and Bernhard This past year I have decided to move from theory to practice and have started working in a court of law During my work on the dissertation I had the opportunity to spend a rewarding term at Rutgers University in Camden NJ visiting Professor Dennis Patterson Since this book is a continuation of that project it feels appropriate to repeat
