Unconscious Communication in Everyday Life Robert Langs,1983 Clinical Interaction and the Analysis of Meaning Theo L. Dorpat,Michael L. Miller,2013-05-13 Clinical Interaction and the Analysis of Meaning evinces a therapeutic vitality all too rare in works of theory Rather than fleeing from the insights of other disciplines Dorpat and Miller discover in recent research confirmation of the possibilities of psychoanalytic treatment In Section I Critique of Classical Theory Dorpat proposes a radical revision of the notion of primary process consonant with contemporary cognitive science Such a revised conception not only enlarges our understanding of the analytic process it also provides analysis with a conceptual language that can articulate meaningful connections with a growing body of empirical research about the development and nature of human cognition In Section II Interactional Theory Miller reverses the direction of inquiry He begins with the literature on cognitive development and functioning and proceeds to mine it for concepts relevant to the clinical process He shows how a revised understanding of the operation of cognition and affect can impart new meaning to basic clinical concepts such as resistance transference and level of psychopathology In Section III Applications and Exemplifications Dorpat concludes this exemplary collaboration by exploring select topics from the standpoint of his and Miller s new psychoanalytic theory At the heart of the authors endeavor it meaning analysis a concept that integrates an up to date model of human information processing with the traditional goals of psychoanalysis The patient approaches the clinical encounter they argue with cognitive affective schemas that are the accumulative product of his life experience to date the manifold meanings ascribed to the clinical interaction must be understood as the product of these schemas rather than as distortions deriving from unconscious drive related fantasies The therapist s goal is to make the patient s meaning making conscious and thus available for introspection

Scharff,1992 Written to address recent discussions of George Orwell s novel Nineteen Eighty Four this impressive collection of interpretive writing debates the work s value as a portent for our future and questions much of the second guessing that has taken place about how Orwell might have responded to events he did not live to see Essays included in the work were prepared by scholars from a broad range of disciplines intellectual historians literary critics experts on communication psychologists students of popular culture sociologists linguists and classicists to generate fresh new perspectives on Orwell and the Orwellian myth Included among the essays is one of the first Soviet critiques of Nineteen Eighty Four to appear in English translation the piece was previously published in the Russian literary magazine Novy Mir in 1989 Several essays discuss the novel s literary artistry its popular and modernist appeal as well as the ways in which Orwell made use of psychoanalytic techniques The Revised Orwell contains a lively selection of scholarly writing that reveals Orwell to be a controversial politically idiosyncratic writer but one well within the mainstream of British cultural history These works are solidly researched and fully developed they will make lasting contributions to Orwell studies Measurement of Communication Behavior Philip Emmert,1989 This volume is designed to serve both as a textbook in courses dedicated to Research Methods in Communication and the Social Sciences and as a professional reference source for students and scholars engaged in empirical research The Freudian Learning Hypotheses Hans Sjöbäck,1988 Bulletin of the British Psychological Society British Psychological Society,1984 Canadian Journal of Psychiatry ,1987 Chicago Psychoanalytic Literature Index ,1984 Contemporary Psychoanalysis ,1985 End-User Development Yvonne Dittrich,Margaret Burnett,Anders Morch,David Redmiles,2013-06-05 This book constitutes the refereed proceedings of the Fourth International Symposium on End User Development IS EUD 2013 held in Copenhagen Denmark in June 2013 The 13 full papers 45% acceptance rate and 11 short papers 50% acceptance rate have been presented at the event In addition the volume contains two keynote speeches three doctoral consortia papers and information on 2 workshops The papers provide a broad overview of the current state of End User Development research Communicate with Confidence! Dianna Daniels Booher,1994 Each year thousands of corporate employees learn to express themselves with confidence through Dianna Booher s
