Words Of Selves Identification Solidarit:

The Words of Selves Denise Riley,2000 In this extended meditation on the language of the self within contemporary social politics the author ponders the question What does it matter what you say about yourself She studies why the requirement to be a something or other should be so hard to satisfy in a manner that rings true in the ears of its own subject

The Words of Selves Denise Riley,2000 Marlene Dietrich had the last line in Orson Welles s A Touch of Evil What does it matter what you say about other people The author ponders the question What does it matter what you say about yourself She wonders why the requirement to be a something or other should be so hard to satisfy in a manner that rings true in the ears of its own subject She decides that some hesitations and awkwardness in inhabiting many categories of the person including those celebrated by what is sometimes termed identity politics need not evidence either psychological weakness or political lack of nerve Neither an identity nor a nonidentity can quite convince But if this discomfort inhering in self characterization needs to be fully admitted and registered as something that is simultaneously linguistic and affective it can also be cheerfully tolerated Here language is not treated as a guileful thing that leads its speakers astray Though the business of being called something and of being positioned by that calling is often an unhappy affair irony can offer effective therapy Even if uncertain and volatile categorizations do trouble the politics that they also shape they hardly weaken the empathetic solidarity that is distinct from identification The verbal irony of self presentation can be politically helpful Questioning the received diction of the self cannot be dismissed merely as a luxury of those in secure positions but instead can move toward a conception of a constructive nonidentity This extended meditation on the language of the self within contemporary social politics also considers the lyrical I and linguistic emotionality the historical status of irony and the possibilities of a nonidentitarian solidarity that is unapologetically alert to the affect of language Impersonal Passion

Denise Riley,2005-04-08 A collection of essays on the everyday workings of language and how language shapes our social and political existence

Queer Livability Ina Linge,2023-05-23 This book brings together an exciting new archive of queer and trans voices from the history of sexual sciences in the German speaking world New studies of gender and sexuality emerged at the turn of the twentieth century from Sigmund Freud s theories of homosexuality in Vienna to Magnus Hirschfeld s third sex in Berlin Together they provided a language of sex and sexuality that is still recognizable today Queer Livability German Sexual Sciences and Life Writing shows that individual voices of trans and queer writers had a significant impact on the production of knowledge about gender and sexuality during this time and introduced lesser known texts to a new readership It shows the remarkable power of queer life writing in imagining and creating the possibilities of a livable life in the face of restrictive legal medical and social frameworks Queer Livability provides fascinating insights into the historical roots for our thinking about gender and sexuality today The book will be relevant to an academic readership of students and faculty in German studies literary studies European history the interdisciplinary fields of gender and sexuality studies

medical humanities and the history of sexuality

Words Underway Carolyn Culbertson, 2019-05-17 Words Underway offers the first full account of the important contributions the Continental tradition has made to the philosophy of language Carolyn Culbertson examines the vital work of a range of thinkers including Heidegger Gadamer Blanchot and Kristeva The book argues that Continental theorists are particularly helpful in recognizing our unique potential for becoming alienated from some discourse At the same time Culbertson argues that Continental philosophy of language tends not to treat the alienated relationship to language as something absolute For most Continental theorists at least language is a living system that is a system maintained by undergoing constant expansion and transformation by language users The book goes on to explore the attention Continental theorists have given to the way that forms of political power for example gender dynamics in communication can sometimes thwart this process and thus reinforce alienation This book will transform the reader's sense of what the philosophy of language is about and will attract the attention of students and scholars of both philosophy of language and the Continental tradition

Queer Theory Now Hannah McCann, Whitney Monaghan, 2026-03-19 The definitive introduction to Queer Theory for anyone looking to understand its key terms concepts debates and social cultural political and activist applications

Critical Identities in Contemporary Anglophone Diasporic Literature Franoise Král, 2009-06-25 The figure of the migrant has been celebrated by some as an icon of postmodernity an emblematic figure in a world increasingly characterized by transnationalism globalization and mass migrations Král takes issue with this view of the migrant experience through in depth analyses of writers including Salman Rushdie Zadie Smith and Monica Ali

Aristocratic Women and the Literary Nation, 1832-1867 Muireann Ó'Cinnéide, 2008-11-03 Aristocratic Women and the Literary Nation 1832-1867 offers a literary complement to recent historians' emphasis upon the cultural visibility and significance of the British aristocracy during the Victorian period Aristocratic women benefited from a leisured model of socialised dilettante interaction that allowed them both to maintain and to market their high social status through their writing but this model could prove a liability in attempts at serious social and or intellectual engagement Instead these women became targets for critiques aimed at defining certain forms of individual and national identity even as they themselves adapted to changing value schemes Aristocratic women's writing therefore offers an important literary and cultural trope through which to consider gendered models of influence elite identities the nature of politics private and public spheres marriage professional identities literary hierarchies imperial experiences and ultimately the ongoing representation of the nation state between the Reform Bills of 1832 and 1867

BOOK JACKET

Masculinity, Psychoanalysis, Straight Queer Theory Calvin Thomas, 2008-04-15 Why does language provoke anxiety about gendered identity How do written words resemble excremental smears Why must a camera be penetrated to penetrate Masculinity Psychoanalysis Straight Queer Theory addresses these and other questions by exploring the repressions of male embodiment that help form heteromasculine identity and the way identity is disturbed by the abjecting dimensions of representational practices An adventure in abjective writing this book features explications of Lacanian psychoanalysis considerations of debates about masculinity studies and feminist politics discussions of straight proliferations of queer theory and close textual analyses of poetry by Galway Kinnell fiction by Samuel Beckett music videos from Janet Jackson and films by Oliver Stone Alfred Hitchcock and David Lynch The Journal of Philosophy, 1919 Covers topics in philosophy psychology and scientific methods Vols 31 include A Bibliography of philosophy 1933 The Conradian, 2008 The Paper, 2001 Against Recognition Lois McNay, 2008-03-17 In this book Lois McNay argues that the insights of the recognition theorists are undercut by their reliance on an inadequate account of power Alliances in Translation William Thomas Bishop, 2003

Glossalalia Julian Wolfreys, Harun Karim Thomas, 2003 Although alphabetically arranged Glossalalia An Alphabet of Critical Keywords is not a conventional glossary or dictionary It is an agenda setting volume which speculates on the state of theory in the twenty first century 26 newly commissioned essays provide distinct original sometimes playful or unusual definitions of theoretical keywords both unexpected terms as well as words well established in the critical canon Animality Biotechnologies Chora Difference Event Flirting Genetics Hypertext J Jouissance Knowledge Love Music Nation Origins Poetics Quilting Reification Schizoanalysis Tele techno theology Universals Visuality Wit X Yarn Zero The volume invites the reader to engage with and enjoy theory to seek out connections and become aware of the process of critical thinking Anyone with theoretical interests in the humanities and in the future possibilities of theory will be delighted and intrigued by this volume Irony and the Poetry of the First World War Susanne Christine Puissant, 2009-03-19 How does irony affect the evaluation and perception of the First World War both then and now This text traces one of the major features of war poetry from the author's application as a means of disguise criticism or psychological therapy to its perception and interpretation by the reader The Georgia Review, 2021 Qui Parle, 2003 Lyric Interventions Linda A. Kinnahan, 2004 Lyric Interventions explores linguistically innovative poetry by contemporary women in North America and Britain whose experiments give rise to fresh feminist readings of the lyric subject The works discussed by Linda Kinnahan explore the lyric subject in relation to the social an I as a product of social discourse and as a conduit for change Contributing to discussions of language oriented poetics through its focus on women writers and feminist perspectives this study of lyric experimentation brings attention to the cultural contexts of nation gender and race as they significantly shift the terms by which the experimental is produced defined and understood This study focuses upon lyric intervention in distinct but related spheres as they link public and ideological norms of identity Firstly lyric innovations with visual and spatial realms of cultural practice and meaning particularly as they naturalize ideologies of gender and race in North America and the post colonial legacies of the Caribbean are investigated in the works of Barbara Guest Kathleen Fraser Erica Hunt and M Nourbese Philip Secondly experimental engagements with nationalist rhetorics of identity marking the works of Carol Ann Duffy Denise Riley Wendy Mulford and Geraldine Monk are explored in relation to contemporary evocations of self in Britain And thirdly in discussions of all of the poets but particularly accenuated in regard to Guest Fraser Riley Mulford and Monk formal experimentation with the lyric I is considered through gendered encounters with critical and avant garde discourses of poetics Throughout the study Kinnahan seeks to illuminate and challenge the ways in which visual and verbal constructs function to make readable the subjectivities historically supporting white male centered power within the worlds of art poetry social locations or national policy The potential of the feminist innovative lyric to generate linguistic surprise simultaneously with engaging risky strategies of social intervention lends force and significance to the public engagement of such poetic experimentation This fresh energetic study will be of great interest to literary critics and womens studies scholars as well as poets on both sides of the Atlantic

Emotions Jennifer Harding, E.
