Working Club In Bengal:

Hindu Revivalism in Bengal, 1872-1905 Amiya P. Sen, 2001-02-28 This work is an intensive study of certain facets of social and intellectual life in Bengal between 1872 and 1905 particularly Hindu revivalism The period under discussion represents significant progress in the area of social and religious reform as well as a period which witnessed hostile attitudes towards such reforms This is probably the first major work concerning the controversy that surrounded the Brahma Marriage Bill of 1868 72 and the Consent Bill of 1890 92 The major source material for this book comprises contemporary Bengali literature including essays newspaper articles and correspondence novels short stories drama and poetry Though this study purports to be a history of intellectual life in Bengal and the broader intellectual trends and movements it is largely an examination of certain developments centred in or around Calcutta

Scoring Off the Field Kausik Bandyopadhyay, 2020-11-29 This book examines how football as a mass spectator sport came to represent a novel unique cultural identity of Bengali people in terms of nation community region locality and club contributing to the continuity of everyday socio cultural life It explains how football became a viable popular social force with a rare emotional spontaneity and peculiar self expressive fan culture against the background of anti imperial nationalist movement and postcolonial political tension and social transformation In the process it investigates certain key questions and problems in the social history of football in Bengal which have hitherto been ignored in the existing works on the subject The author offers some original arguments in treating football as a cultural phenomenon setting it squarely in the context of Bengali politics and society It strengthens the premise that social history of South Asian sport can be meaningfully understood only by looking beyond the sports field The study using sport as a lens has tried to consider some relevant themes of social history and brings forth important issues of political and cultural history of 20th century Bengal Simultaneously it highlights the transformed role of football as an instrument of reaction resistance and subversion It indicates that the football field of Bengal proves to be a mirror image of what society experiences in its cultural and political field through a series of historical projections of identity difference and culture
