Daniel Gross, 2008 Our Roots Grow Deep: The Story of Rodale by Rodale Inc. Hailed by some as a visionary and others as a quack, Jerome Irving Rodale and his wife Anna moved from New York City to the rural community of Emmaus, Pennsylvania, where they bought a farm and lived the life they had only dreamed about. J. I.'s interest in chemical-free food and his own health led to the creation of Organic Farming and Gardening magazine in 1942 and in 1950 to Prevention magazine. After J. I. suffered a fatal heart attack on the Dick Cavett Show in 1971, his son Robert took over and incorporated organic gardening and farming and preventive health care into more far-reaching areas of organic living, active lifestyles, and regenerative agriculture. After Bob died tragically in 1990, Ardie, Bob's widow, and their family carried on the tradition. The company, still privately owned and run, brought the concepts of organic food, healthy active living, and environmental responsibility to the mainstream and now reaches some 25 million customers through Prevention, Organic Gardening, Men's Health, Women's Health, Best Life, Bicycling, Mountain Bike, Runner's World, and Running Times magazines, best-selling books such as An Inconvenient Truth, The South Beach Diet, The Doctor's Book of Home Remedies, and Eat This, Not That, multimedia, Web sites, and numerous philanthropic activities. In this gorgeous, full-color volume, loaded with photos and memorabilia, the story of the modest beginnings of this fascinating family and their sixty-plus years of tireless work that now helps millions of people worldwide live a more whole life is now available for the first time.

Abridged Agricultural Records ...: Miscellaneous farm topics, 1912 Garden and Farm Topics Peter Henderson, 1884 Reflecting Transformation in Post-socialist Rural Areas Maarit Heinonen, 2007

The rural reforms in many post-soviet countries produced a number of unintended consequences. The reforms were guided by ideals of a romanticized society of family farmers; they were to be the basis of the rural middle class, together with owners of non-agricultural SMEs acting as guardians of democracy and common good. The guidelines were set by advisers from the World Bank and IMF who preferred family farms or individual farms over the collective enterprises. In most countries, the result was nothing like those envisaged by reformers. Instead of efficient and productive family farms, the result was almost complete de-capitalization of agriculture and collapse of production. The reform was destructive, not only as far as production is concerned, but more importantly to rural communities. Social ties, which were based on the collective farm as the main economic and social resource for the local community, were eroded. Only from the turn of this decade, some early stages of new developments in economic and social life in post-socialist rural areas. The result is that now, more than fifteen years since the beginning of agricultural reforms, the key agricultural producers in Russia, Baltic countries, and elsewhere are very large capitalist farms or large agricultural holding companies. This anthology is based on the presentations given at the 5th Aleksanteri Conference, 10-11 November 2005, in Helsinki, Finland, and it is devoted to the analysis of some of these issues. The volume is divided into two parts: in the first part, the focus is on the patterns and problems of transformation of post-socialist agriculture and agricultural policies, while the second part focuses mainly on efforts to revitalize rural communities and issues of local development.
