appear to perform better than career civil servants despite being paid more on average and many leave civil service employment relatively quickly Nonetheless given the existence of skills gaps and the other benefits that external recruits can bring PASC believes that there will continue to be a place for outside appointments in civil service recruitment PASC further concludes that the extent of recent external recruitment is symptomatic of a wider concern the ability of the civil service to identify its current and future skills needs and to plan effectively to meet those needs PASC recommends that the emphasis of civil service employment policy should be on developing its own people and skills rather than seeking to draw these in from outside
