

DESIGNING FOR ALL AGES & ABILITIES

Every design must meet the needs of a diverse range of potential bike riders. Across North America, however, many existing bike facility design practices are limited to only the widest range of age and ability. Many who might otherwise use a bike facility are often excluded by design choices that do not consider the needs of all ages and abilities. While a number of cities have taken a leading role in developing more inclusive bike facility design practices, many others have yet to do so. This guide provides a comprehensive overview of the design choices that can be made to create a more inclusive bike facility design.
