Scherrer,1979 The past four years have seen a growing interest in possible relationships between terrestrial weather and solar or solar wind variability Most of the work in sunweather and climate studies have sought correlations on three time scales 1 climate changes over hundreds to thousands of years related to longer term variations in the solar putput 2 climate changes correlated with the 22 year solar cycle and 3 weather variations on the scale of a few days in response to transient solar events While it has not been conclusively shown that there is a sun weather connection on any of these time scales in each case there exists enough supporting evidence to suggest that further study is warranted Author Our Changing

Planet U.S. Global Change Research Program.),1990 Impact of Solar Activities on Weather and Climate Ziniu Xiao,Limin Zhou,Liang Zhao,Irina Alexandrovna Mironova,Peili Wu,Hiroko Miyahara,2024-01-22 Evidence from observations and paleoclimate records suggest that solar outputs including solar irradiance and energy particles belong to the fundamental natural forces of the climate system It is consistent that the variation of solar irradiance on the orbital time scale controls glacial interglacial cycle However the contribution of solar output fluctuation due to solar activity to decadal to centennial climate change is still contradictory The common driving force mechanism is then the key role of solar climate linking research and the mechanism of solar forcing and the pathway of amplification could be two key scientific problems in climate research In recent years a lot of studies have been done on the effects of solar activity on the climate based on data analysis by observation reanalysis or mechanism tracking by modeling The interannual and decadal solar signals in the regional climate were found and the hypothesis of driving mechanisms was proposed Meanwhile the potential contribution of solar variability to the current climate prediction has attracted more and more attention The purpose of this topic is to collect and reveal new results and new understandings about the impact of solar variability on climate Meteorological and Geostrophysical Abstracts ,1985 Proceedings of the Second Pan American Scientific Congress, Washington, U.
