Strategic Nonviolent Power Mark A. Mattaini, 2013-10-01 History indicates that there are powerful routes to liberation from oppression that do not involve violence Mohandas Gandhi called for a science of nonviolent action one based on satyagraha or the insistence on truth As Gandhi understood nonviolent resistance is not passive nor is it weak rather such action is an exercise of power Despite the success of Gandhi's Quit India movement the resources dedicated to the application of rigorous science to nonviolent struggle have been vanishingly small By contrast almost unimaginable levels of financial and human resources have been devoted to the science and technologies of killing war and collective violence Mark Mattaini reviews the history and theory of nonviolent struggles against oppression and discusses recent research that indicates the substantial need for and advantage of nonviolent alternatives He then offers a detailed exploration of principles of behavioral systems science that appear to underlie effective strategic civil resistance and people power Strategic Nonviolent Power proposes that the route to what Gandhi described as the undreamt of and seemingly impossible discoveries of nonviolent resistance is the application of rigorous science Although not a simple science Mattaini's application of ecological science grounded in the science of behaviour brings exceptional power to the struggle for justice and liberation At a time when civil resistance is actively reshaping global political realities the science of nonviolent struggle deserves the attention of the scientific activist strategic military spiritual and diplomatic communities as well as the informed public
