Public Relations
Research Ansgar Zerfaß, A. A. van Ruler, Krishnamurthy Sriramesh, 2008-05-08 Introduction Sriramesh Van Ruler Zerfass Krishnamurthy Sriramesh Betteke van Ruler Ansgar Zerfass One could make a reasonable argument that public relations is an ancient practice going back millennia although it has been popularly perceived as a 20th century phenomenon Scholarship in public relations however is more recent in origin with a history of less than four decades During these formative years the body of knowledge has expanded significantly which is laudable However there is potential for growth and improvement in many areas of the public relations literature Over the decades among other things public relations scholarship has largely remained parochial to specific regions such as the United States the United Kingdom Latin America German speaking Europe etc as evidenced in the bibliographic references of many essays in this volume itself where authors predo nantly cite work from their own regions This is often necessitated by linguistic differences with only English serving as the universal language that helps permeate knowledge through most regions Pedagogical and methodological factors also have played a role in the regionalization of the body of knowledge However we believe that knowledge flourishes most when it is shared across different kinds of barriers Globalization has made it essential for us to recognize this reality more than ever This volume tries to bridge the gap and presents theories and concepts from researchers around the world

The Practice of Public Relations Fraser P. Seitel,1992 Managing Communication Processes E W. Brody,1991-06-30 This text for communications specialists marks a departure from earlier studies by approaching the subject of communication programs and crisis response holistically concentrating on how mass communication plans programs and campaigns special event and crisis response techniques must be coordinated in order to be effective The study establishes the link between the parent organization s public relations concept and the communication methods it should employ and outlines the design and implementation of those programs for both short term needs and crisis or disaster response The outdated case studies often found in similar volumes are replaced here by theory and problem solving techniques which may be applied to incidents found in any newspaper or periodical election campaigns oil spills or acts of God are included for more meaningful in class study The text also features the many aspects of the design of public relations programs ranging from basic responsibilities in communication to the need for consistency in campaigning and budget considerations This training text will give future communication specialists a broad overview of their discipline with a solid look at how communications systems are interrelated

Targeting the Message William Thompson,1996 This book is about meeting organizational goals through public relations writing at a historical moment when new technology and a fresh strategic vision make it possible to reconceptualize what public relations writing can accomplish
