information technology biotechnology and new materials However the analysis of a government's role in technological development goes beyond the simple comparison of financial efforts and policy measures The policies of seven countries are analysed in their specific national context and much attention is paid to the differences in industrial structure the different social and institutional settings and national traditions in government intervention In order to gain insight into the diffusion of new technologies and the shifts in international competitive relations it is necessary to focus on the social base for technological change among the industrial countries In this context there is fundamental work to do for economists political scientists sociologists policy makers technical engineers consultants managers in strategic planning and human resources and so on
