Women Work And Computerization:

Women, Work and Computerization Ellen Balka, Richard Smith, 2013-11-11 ELLENBALKA Simon Fraser University
ebalka Sfu ca 1 INTRODUCTION In developing the call for papers for the 7th International Federation of Information Processors IFIP Women Work and Computerization Conference we sought to cast our net widely We wanted to encourage presenters to think broadly about women work and computerization Towards this end the programme committee developed a call for papers that in its final form requested paper submissions around four related themes These are 1 Setting the Course Taking Stock of Where We Are and Where We re Going 2 Charting Undiscovered Terrain Creating Models Tools and Theories 3 Navigating the Unknown Sex Time Space and Place and 4 Taking the Helm Education and Pedagogy Our overall conference theme Charting a Course to the Future was inspired in part by Vancouver s geography which is both coastal and mountainous As such navigation plays an important part in the lives of many as we seek to enjoy our environs In addition as the first Women Work and Computerization conference of the new millennium we hoped to encourage the broad community of scholars that has made past Women Work and Computerization conferences a success to actively engage in imagining and working towards a better future for women in relation to computers The contributions to this volume are both a reflection of the hard work undertaken by many to improve the situation of women in relation to computerization and a testament to how much work is yet to be done

Women, Work and Computerization A. Frances Grundy, 1997-05-20 This volume considers the submissions to the 6th International IFIP TC 9 WG 9 1 Conference on Women Work and Computerization WWC 97 The conference provides an interdisciplinary forum for researchers practitioners and users in the field of information technology In this book the authors discuss how different areas of society are being transformed by computer technology but with particular emphasis on changes in women s work and life and how these have come about Such transformations include the transitions from women s traditional work to work based on modern technology from communicating within personal communities to communicating within virtual communities from traditional job gendering to new perspectives on who does what

Women, Work, and Computerization Alison Adam, 1994 Paperback An international acknowledgement of the problems existing in the area of gender and computing in the 1990s is provided by this publication The need to produce strategies and policies to rectify the situation is highlighted Papers both reporting original empirical research and postulating interesting theoretical perspectives are structured around five parallel themes Community Communications and Information Networks Information Technology IT Flexibility and Restructuring Information Systems Design and User Centred Perspectives Education Training and Learning and Feminist Theoretical Perspectives on Power Knowledge and Technology

Women, Work, and Computerization Inger V. Eriksson, B. A. Kitchenham, Kea Tjinders, 1991 This volume considers the impact of information technology on women s employment and education by examining two main themes the effect of women s perspectives on systems analysis and design and the factors which lead to the under representation of women in the computer profession and in particular to the low numbers of female students of computer science and informatics Statistics on participation of women in the computer industry are included along with theories and empirical findings on participatory design of office systems and case studies on the impact of information technology on gendered division of labour Papers suggesting ways of overcoming the problems faced both by women users of computer systems and by women entering the computing profession complete the volume

Women, Work, and Computerization Kea Tijdens,1989 The implications of computerization in the workplace benefits and problems are the themes of this book with the emphasis firmly placed on women's points of view Computerization in the office and in manufacturing are both discussed the specific topics including organizational change training telework and Third World problems
