Social Perception and Social Reality Lee Jussim, 2012-04-06 Social Perception and Social Reality contests the received wisdom in the field of social psychology that suggests that social perception and judgment are generally flawed biased and powerfully self fulfilling Jussim reviews a wealth of real world survey and experimental data collected over the last century to show that in fact social psychological research consistently demonstrates that biases and self fulfilling prophecies are generally weak fragile and fleeting Furthermore research in the social sciences has shown stereotypes to be accurate Jussim overturns the received wisdom concerning social perception in several ways He critically reviews studies that are highly cited darlings of the bias conclusion and shows how these studies demonstrate far more accuracy than bias or are not replicable in subsequent research Studies of equal or higher quality which have been replicated consistently are shown to demonstrate high accuracy low bias or both The book is peppered with discussions suggesting that theoretical and political blinders have led to an odd state of affairs in which the flawed or misinterpreted bias studies receive a great deal of attention while stronger and more replicable accuracy studies receive relatively little attention In addition the author presents both personal and real world examples such as stock market prices sporting events and political elections that routinely undermine heavy handed emphases on error and bias but are generally indicative of high levels of rationality and accuracy He fully embraces scientific data even when that data yields unpopular conclusions or contests prevailing conventions or the received wisdom in psychology in other social sciences and in broader society
