Dick, 2003 Philip K. Dick Christopher Palmer, 2003 Once the sole possession of fans and buffs the SF author

Philip K Dick is now finding a much wider audience as the success of the films Blade Runner and Minority Report shows. The kind of world he predicted in his funny and frightening novels and stories is coming closer to most of us shifting realities, unstable relations, uncertain moralities. Philip K Dick: Exhilaration and Terror of the Postmodern examines a wide range of Dick's work, including his short stories and posthumously published realist novels. Christopher Palmer analyses the puzzling and dazzling effects of Dick's fiction and argues that at its heart is a clash between exhilarating possibilities of transformation and a frightening lack of ethical certainties. Dick's work is seen as the inscription of his own historical predicament, the clash between humanism and postmodernism being played out in the complex forms of the fiction. The problem is never resolved but Dick's ways of imagining it become steadily more ingenious and challenging. Nature & Science on the Pacific Coast, 1915. Class List of the Books in the Reference Library Nottingham (England). Free Public Reference Library, 1908. Mind in Motion Patricia S. Warrick, 1987. Discussed here are the eight novels that Patricia Warrick considers representative of Dick's finest writing, the works that will become classics, including The Man in the High Castle and Do Androids Dream of Electric Sheep? Warrick shows that Dick had a remarkable sense of the cultural transformation taking place in the last half of the 20th century. Dick points out the cracks in our institutions, our ideologies, and our value systems that will inevitably lead to their collapse. His moral vision perceived a universe of infinite possibility with shapes that constantly transformed themselves, a universe in process. And his mind was a mind in motion, constantly questioning, finding answers, rejecting them in order to seek other possibilities. For Dick, having fixed, unchangeable answers was tantamount to entropy and death. Critical Survey of Long Fiction: Truman Capote-Stanley Elkin, 2000.
