Flying Higher Morten Beyer, 2009-10-08 The rise of transport airlines stems from the final days of World War II when airplanes were used mostly by the military and for Government mail Juan Trippe's idea of an Empire of the Air transporting people was a distant dream There were no footsteps to follow Beyer working himself up through the ranks cast his practical eye at the many aspects of how an airline could run and prosper and became known as an efficiency wizard During his international career he says what it was like dealing with government regulations he describes the fleets and their maintenance and at one point a revolution All this is interspersed with some hilarious anecdotes It was a risky business and this is the true adventure of Mort Beyer's life as the president of several scheduled and non scheduled airlines over a span of sixty years

The Fugue Gint Aras, 2016-02-25 After over a decade in prison a young sculptor Yuri Dilenko returns to his old neighborhood in Cicero Illinois He finds the town stripped of so many places he used to know while the town's familiar streets bricks and steeples trigger memories of his traumatic youth To convalesce he sculpts from collected scrap metal but his arrival in town soon rouses a young girl Lita Avila to curiosity Could this reclusive and oddly quiet man whose art is sensitive yet intense truly be guilty of setting fire to his parents bungalow and burning them alive At once an homage to the urban grit of Nelson Algren and the family sagas of Leo Tolstoy The Fugue is a true epic that spans three generations and over fifty years a major new achievement in the history of Chicago literature It considers the effects of war and the silent haunting traumas inherited by children of displaced refugees Gint Aras's lucid yet lyrical prose braids and weaves a tale where memory and imagination merge time races and drags and identity collapses and shifts without warning
