Whether the format is picture book, poetry, fiction, or nonfiction, here are wonderful selections like Why Does the Cat Do That and Exploring the Titanic, tried and true characters from the beloved aardvarks Arthur and D.W. to the hilarious Junie B. Jones and the courageous Harry Potter new heroes and heroines to cheer for such as Katherine Paterson's Princess Miranda from The Wide Awake Princess and the exciting Jack Black from Jack Black and the Ship of Thieves by Carol Hughes. Great Books About Things Kids Love creates a book-rich environment in which the habit of reading can take hold and flourish for a lifetime.

From the Trade Paperback edition Physical Sciences Amy Bain, Janet Richer, Janet Weckman, 2001-05-15. Everything you need to create exciting thematic science units can be found in these handy guides. Developed for educators who want to take an integrated approach, these teaching kits contain resource lists, reading selections, and activities that can be easily pulled together for units on virtually any science topic. Arranged by subject, each book lists key scientific concepts for primary, intermediate, and upper-level learners and links them to specific chapters where resources for teaching those concepts appear. Chapters identify and describe comprehensive teaching resources, nonfiction, and related fiction. Reading selections then detail hands-on science and extension activities that help students learn the scientific method and build learning across the curriculum. A final section helps you locate helpful experiment books and appropriate journals, web sites, agencies, and related organizations.

Language Arts Gail E. Tompkins, 1995. Grade level 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 p e i t. Digby and Kate Again Barbara Baker, 1994. Four episodes in the friendship of Digby the dog and Kate the cat who enjoy each other's company.

Hazel Saves the Day SuAnn Kiser, 1994. The Destruction of Black Civilization took Chancellor Williams sixteen years of research and field study to compile. The book which was to serve as a reinterpretation of the history of the African race was intended to be a general rebellion against the subtle message from even the most liberal white authors and their Negro disciples: You belong to a race of nobodies. You have no worthwhile history to point to with pride. The book was written at a time when many black students, educators, and scholars were starting to piece together the connection between the way their history was taught and the way they were perceived by others and by themselves. They began to question assumptions.

made about their history and took it upon themselves to create a new body of historical research The book is premised on the question If the Blacks were among the very first builders of civilization and their land the birthplace of civilization what has happened to them that has left them since then at the bottom of world society precisely what happened The Caucasian answer is simple and well known The Blacks have always been at the bottom Williams instead contends that many elements nature imperialism and stolen legacies have aided in the destruction of the black civilization The Destruction of Black Civilization is revelatory and revolutionary because it offers a new approach to the research teaching and study of African history by shifting the main focus from the history of Arabs and Europeans in Africa to the Africans themselves offering instead a history of blacks that is a history of blacks Because only from history can we learn what our strengths were and especially in what particular aspect we are weak and vulnerable Our history can then become at once the foundation and guiding light for united efforts in seriously planning what we should be about now It was part of the evolution of the black revolution that took place in the 1970s as the focus shifted from politics to matters of the mind

Literature & the Learner Frances S. Goforth, 1998 As a genre text not an anthology this text teaches students about literature forms and discusses ways of using literature in the classroom It is used to give students the background they need to evaluate select and use children's literature in their own teaching A database of current literature is provided with the text and will be updated annually
