physical and intellectual and healing and organizing      The Fundamental Principles of Learning and Study Austin Southwick Edwards,1920      Compassionate Leadership for School Belonging Kathryn Riley,2022-04-04 In Compassionate Leadership for School Belonging Kathryn Riley draws on 40 years of international research and professional practice to show how schools can be places of safety and fulfilment even in the most difficult of circumstances When belonging is a school s guiding principle more young people at all levels experience a sense of connectedness and friendship perform better academically and come to believe in themselves their teachers feel more professionally fulfilled their families more accepted The originality of this highly readable book lies in its scope It offers international analysis from the OECD alongside insights from the author s extensive research in schools powerfully supported by observational vignettes and drawings from the children young people and teachers who have been her co researchers The book reveals patterns of dislocation disaffection and exclusion and highlights the points of intervention in policy and practice needed across school systems to create the conditions for school belonging The methodologies concepts and research tools offered can be used by practitioners and researchers in their own contexts and to guide school leaders towards creating their own places of belonging This is an urgent book of hope offering knowledge so that schools can open up possibilities to all children and young people in an increasingly uncertain world      A New Blueprint for Brain Health Sanjeev Sridharan,Jordan Antflick,Kaela Scott,April Nakaima,2025-12-02 This open access book presents an integrative vision to achieve better brain health Across the globe is a growing awareness of the impact of neurological conditions and mental health on wellbeing Also as populations age the number of people impacted by brain health conditions also grows shining a light on the need for brain health solutions that are sustainable Although the knowledge of what is working for a variety of brain health conditions continues to expand we need to realize that not all solutions will come from medical research What is needed to address brain health in a more sustainable way is a better understanding of the care that community provides and how a vision of better brain health will be found by deepening our understanding of the role of community and elevating the value of their contributions Community organizations provide frontline care and have a tangible understanding of the needs that accompany the populations above This means they are well equipped to provide local and accessible care Community is a place in which brain health solutions can be delivered in a sustainable effective efficient equitable and person centered way As such the knowledge community organizations can contribute to the bigger picture of health care is important This project responds to the need to better understand community care by highlighting how the role of evaluative thinking in the community sector can help us generate evidence to navigate towards better brain health futures By first recognizing and then supporting community led care we can expand how we view and receive care Along these lines the book moves from a view of healthcare as being only delivered in hospitals and clinics to recognizing the continuum of care and integration of healthcare options It provides a space for stories of health care solutions that indeed have connected health to the social and the community sectors By exploring community interventions that have been integrated with biomedical neuroscientific solutions we will learn how integrated sustainable solutions can be created The role of evaluation in helping facilitate the creation of such solutions also will be explored This project is a partnership between the Ontario Brain Institute and the Evaluation Centre for Complex Health Interventions and reflects our collective learnings from our work in developmental evaluation and brain health Pharmacy Education
