Learning to Communicate in Science and Engineering Mya Poe, Neal Lerner, Jennifer Craig, 2010-02-05 Case studies and pedagogical strategies to help science and engineering students improve their writing and speaking skills while developing professional identities To many science and engineering students the task of writing may seem irrelevant to their future professional careers At MIT however students discover that writing about their technical work is important not only in solving real world problems but also in developing their professional identities MIT puts into practice the belief that engineers who don't write well end up working for engineers who do write well requiring all students to take communications intensive classes in which they learn from MIT faculty and writing instructors how to express their ideas in writing and in presentations Students are challenged not only to think like professional scientists and engineers but also to communicate like them This book offers in depth case studies and pedagogical strategies from a range of science and engineering communication intensive classes at MIT It traces the progress of seventeen students from diverse backgrounds in seven classes that span five departments Undergraduates in biology attempt to turn scientific findings into a research article graduate students learn to define their research for scientific grant writing undergraduates in biomedical engineering learn to use data as evidence and students in aeronautic and astronautic engineering learn to communicate collaboratively Each case study is introduced by a description of its theoretical and curricular context and an outline of the objectives for the students activities The studies describe the on the ground realities of working with faculty staff and students to achieve communication and course goals offering lessons that can be easily applied to a wide variety of settings and institutions

Collaborative Writing Helen N. Dale,1992 The Huntington Library Quarterly Henry E. Huntington Library and Art Gallery,2003

34th Aerospace Sciences Meeting & Exhibit,1996 Facilitating Students' Collaborative Writing: Issues and Recommendations Bruce W. Speck,2002-05-07 Collaboration is interwoven in the writing process in both obvious and subtle ways from a writer using the language that he or she inherited to referring to the works of other writers both explicitly and implicitly to writing together with a colleague In this book the author explains that collaborative writing can be a useful pedagogical tool professors can use to help students actively learn about the subject matter and about themselves ADE Bulletin Association of Departments of English,1990 American Book Publishing Record ,1992 Learning to Write Differently Marilyn Cochran-Smith,Cynthia L. Paris,Jessica L. Kahn,1991 This volume explores in detail the ways that working with word processing interacts with the social processes of classrooms to shape participants theories and practices of writing It offers an expanded image of the ways teachers construct writing curricula that includes word processing and reveals an interactive long term relationship between the writing contexts teachers and children construct and the capacities and requirements of writing tools The volume also builds an analytic framework for thinking and talking about teachers students and technology which captures the dynamic interrelationships over time of classroom cultures teachers interpretations and decisions and uses of word processing The authors argue that over time both teachers and children learned ways to write differently with word processing That is working with word processing shaped the ways teachers thought about teaching and learning writing and also shaped the ways beginning writers understood and practiced the activity This volume makes clear that word processing itself does not make children write better prompt them to revise more or teach them new writing strategies But when teachers and students work together with word processing they often construct social contexts within which children have opportunities to learn new writing strategies new ways to think about strategies they already have and ways to execute those strategies efficiently Composing with Confidence Alan Meyers,1996 Linguistics and Language Behavior Abstracts ,2006-04
