White Redling:

Redlining Culture Richard Jean So, 2020-12-15 The canon of postwar American fiction has changed over the past few decades to include far more writers of color It would appear that we are making progress recovering marginalized voices and including those who were for far too long ignored However is this celebratory narrative borne out in the data Richard Jean So draws on big data literary history and close readings to offer an unprecedented analysis of racial inequality in American publishing that reveals the persistence of an extreme bias toward white authors In fact a defining feature of the publishing industry is its vast whiteness which has denied nonwhite authors especially black writers the coveted resources of publishing reviews prizes and sales with profound effects on the language form and content of the postwar novel Rather than seeing the postwar period as the era of multiculturalism So argues that we should understand it as the invention of a new form of racial inequality one that continues to shape the arts and literature today Interweaving data analysis of large scale patterns with a consideration of Toni Morrison s career as an editor at Random House and readings of individual works by Octavia Butler Henry Dumas Amy Tan and others So develops a form of criticism that brings together qualitative and quantitative approaches to the study of literature A vital and provocative work for American literary studies critical race studies and the digital humanities Redlining Culture shows the importance of data and computational methods for understanding and challenging racial inequality

Controllable Artificial Intelligence and the Future of Law Hugo Luz dos Santos, 2025-11-08 This book broaches the newly crafted concept of algorithmic dictatorship that draws on a plethora of human biases that creep into the algorithm and feeds into an automated decision that comes to the expense of citizens lives freedoms health property fair lending and credit scoring This book sheds a keen light on the slew of reasons in view of which artificial intelligence should be both interpretable and controllable as opposed to merely explainable The reason for that is straightforward the skewed data baked into the bigoted algorithms machine biases spawns harrowing effects with which criminal justice has been grappling for a long haul drawn out Tallyingly and perhaps unsurprisingly law enforcement evinces biases that run along both gender and race lines No surprise springs from the fact that computer generated algorithms that propel predictive policing are often flagged as tools whereby racial discrimination abounds It should not therefore be pegged as flabbergasting that this sort of shady algorithmic governance is a byproduct of a grueling algorithmic dictatorship that is shaping up to crumble the foundations of Rule of Law upon which stands modern societies This is one of the key takeaways of this book Disturbingly enough brain computer interfaces are poised to be converted into shady tools to collate gauge thoughts emotions sentiments and crime related information that would be otherwise inaccessible to the governments rogue nations or unscrupulous actors prying eyes Much to our dismay an eerily dystopian world is unfolding before our very eyes This is the gist of transhumanism a byproduct of convolutional neural networks that revolve around deep learning genetic algorithms that will overhaul the current legal landscape beyond recognition This book charts the path ahead as to draw set in stone boundaries to prevent jurisdictions from careening into the chaos of genetic plutocracy that should be wished away

A Case for Change in Teacher Preparation Julie Gorlewski, Amanda Winkelsas, Suzanne N. Rosenblith, Corrie Stone-Johnson, Elisabeth Etopio, David Gorlewski, Tiffany Karalis Noel, Bobbie Finocchio, Amanda Seccia, Ling Zhai, Erin Kearney, Xiufeng Liu, Nooshin Shafaei, Tanika Shedrick, 2021-08-19 Why are preservice teachers often told by veteran teachers to forget what you learned in teacher preparation programs Why is there a gap between pedagogical practices employed at schools and those taught at colleges and universities And why after evidence from countless studies are there still so few teachers of color working in our rapidly diversifying schools These questions are addressed in this book which describes a reconceptualized teacher preparation program based on a teacher residency model This model is grounded in three core beliefs first that teacher quality is a shared responsibility between universities and school districts second that all students have a right to high quality teachers who are as racially ethnically and linguistically diverse as the students they teach and third that for education to be transformative future educators must have the right balance of theoretical knowledge and practical experiences grounded in specific contexts Through a combination of rich description and qualitative and quantitative program data the authors make the case that university programs focused on the communities they serve can ensure more effective learner ready teachers who remain in the profession longer By providing a detailed blueprint for program development the contents of this book will be of value and interest to educational leaders policy makers and researchers
