Speech Perception Production:

Speech Perception, Production and Linguistic Structure Yoh'ichi Tohkura, Eric Vatikiotis-Bateson, Yoshinori Sagisaka, 1992

Speech Production and Perception Mark Tatham, Katherine Morton, 2016-01-13 This book aims to develop a framework for a fully explanatory theory of speech production and speech perception It emphasises the difference between static models primarily descriptive and dynamic models that attempt to show how the basic linguistics and phonetics are related in an actual human speaker listener

Perception and Production of Fluent Speech Ronald A. Cole, 2016-07-28 Originally published in 1980 this title looks at the mental processes involved in producing and understanding spoken language Although there had been several edited volumes on speech in the previous ten years this volume was unique in that it deals exclusively with perception and production of fluent speech The chapters in this volume contributed to by distinguished scientists from psychology linguistics and computer science deal with such questions as How are ideas encoded into sound How does a speaker plan an utterance How are words recognized What is the role of knowledge in speech perception In short how do people communicate with each other using speech

Guide to Speech Production and Perception Mark Tatham, 2011-04-22 What roles do the speaker and the listener play in communication processes Providing an overall system view this innovative textbook explains how those working in the area think about speech Emphasising contextual and environmental perspectives Tatham and Morton lead you through classical and modern phonetics alongside discussion of cognitive and biological aspects of speech In explaining speech production for perception and the relationship between phonology and phonetics this book shows the possible applications such as language teaching clinical practice and speech technology and how these are relevant to other disciplines including sociolinguistics cognitive neuroscience psychology and speech acoustics

Speech Perception and Production in L2 Elena Kkese, 2022-02-22 This book is concerned with studying speech perception and production in an L2 It deals with segments syllables and features above syllable level the suprasegmental level The volume brings together careful theoretical and empirical research conducted in different countries including the United States of America Greece Northern Cyprus Canada the Republic of Cyprus Israel and Spain

Speech Perception and Production William E. Cooper, 1979

The Initiation of Sound Change Maria-Josep Solé, Daniel Recasens, 2012-07-18 The origins of sound change is one of the oldest and most challenging questions in the study of language The goal of this volume is to examine current approaches to sound change from a variety of theoretical and methodological perspectives including articulatory variation and modeling speech perception mechanisms and neurobiological processes geographical and social variation and diachronic phonology This diversity of perspectives contributes to a fruitful cross fertilization across disciplines and represents an attempt to formulate converging ideas on the factors that lead to sound change This book is addressed to scholars in historical linguistics linguistic typology and phonology as well as to researchers in speech production and perception cognition and modeling Given the theoretical and methodological interest of the contributions as well as the novel instrumental techniques applied to the study of sound change this volume will interest professionals teaching language typology laboratory phonology sound change phonetics and phonological theory at the graduate level Speech Perception, Production and Acquisition Huei-Mei Liu, Feng-Ming Tsao, Ping Li, 2020-09-14 This book addresses important issues of speech processing and language learning in Chinese It highlights perception and production of speech in healthy and clinical populations and in children and adults This book provides diverse perspectives and reviews of cutting edge research in past decades on how Chinese speech is processed and learned Along with each chapter future research directions have been discussed With these unique features and the broad coverage of topics this book appeals to not only scholars and students who study speech perception in preverbal infants and in children and adults learning Chinese but also to teachers with interests in pedagogical applications in teaching Chinese as Second Language What is the relation between speech production and speech perception? ROBERT J. PORTER, 1984 Speech Production Jonathan Harrington, Marija Tabain, 2013-05-13 Speech Production Models Phonetic Processes and Techniques brings together researchers from many different disciplines computer science dentistry engineering linguistics phonetics physiology psychology all with a special interest in how speech is produced From the initial neural program to the end acoustic signal it provides an overview of several dominant models in the speech production literature as well as up to date accounts of persistent theoretical issues in the area A particular focus is on the evaluation of information gleaned from instrumental investigations of the speech production process including MRI PET ultra sound video imaging EMA EPG X ray computer simulation and many others The research presented in this volume considers questions such as the feed back vs feed forward control of speech the acoustic auditory vs articulatory somato sensory domains of speech planning the innateness of human speech the possible architecture of a speech production model and the realization of prosodic structure in speech Leaders in speech research from around the world have contributed their most recent work to this volume Modularity and the Motor theory of Speech Perception Michael Studdert-Kennedy, Ignatius G. Mattingly, 2014-01-02 A compilation of the proceedings of a conference held to honor Alvin M Liberman for his outstanding contributions to research in speech perception this volume deals with two closely related and controversial proposals for which Liberman and his colleagues at Haskins Laboratories have argued forcefully over the past 35 years The first is that articulatory gestures are the units not only of speech production but also of speech perception the second is that speech production and perception are not cognitive processes but rather functions of a special mechanism This book explores the implications of these proposals not only for speech production and speech perception but for the neurophysiology of language language acquisition higher level linguistic processing the visual perception of phonetic gestures the production and perception of sign language the reading process and learning to read The contributors to this volume include linguists psycholinguists speech scientists neurophysiologists and ethologists Liberman himself responds in the final chapter

Guide to Speech Production and Perception Mark Tatham, 2011-04-22 The first textbook providing an integrated model of spoken language Speech Production and Perception I., 1997 Speech Perception and Speech Production Linda Irene Shuster, 1986 Speech Physiology, Speech Perception, and Acoustic Phonetics Philip Lieberman, Sheila Blumstein, 1988-02-04 This analysis of speech ranges from clarifying physiological biological and neurological bases of speech through defining the principles of electrical and computer models of speech production Experimental Analysis of the Control of Speech Production and Perception Michigan University Department of Psychology, University of Michigan. Department of Psychology, 1963 The Handbook of Speech Production Melissa A. Redford, 2019-02-12 The Handbook of Speech Production is the first reference work to provide an overview of this burgeoning area of study Twenty four chapters written by an international team of authors examine issues in speech planning motor control the physical aspects of speech production and external factors that impact speech production Contributions bring together behavioral clinical computational developmental and neuropsychological perspectives on speech production to create a rich and truly interdisciplinary resource Offers a novel and timely contribution to the literature and showcases a broad spectrum of research in speech production methodological advances and modeling Coverage of planning motor control articulatory coordination the speech mechanism and the effect of language on production processes An Investigation Into the Relationship Between Speech Perception and Speech Production in an Experimental Speech Training Program for Children with Hearing Loss Christine Kosky, 1998 Speech Perception and Production as a Function of Exposure to a Second Language Lee Williams, 1974
