World Musicians:

Music and Musicians, 1917 Modern Music and Musicians: The great composers, part 1. Critical and biographical sketches of the epoch-makers of music, 1918 The Musician, 1902 Living Politics, Making Music Jan Fairley, edited by Simon Frith, Ian Christie, 2016-05-13 The late Jan Fairley 1949-2012 was a key figure in making world music a significant topic for popular music studies and an influential contributor to such world music magazines as fRoots and Songlines. This book celebrates her contribution to popular music scholarship by gathering her most important work together in a single place. The result is a richly informed and entertaining volume that will be of interest to all scholars in the field while also serving as an excellent introduction for students interested in popular music as a global phenomenon. Fairley's work was focused on the problems and possibilities of cross-cultural musical influences, fantasies and flows, and on the importance of performing circuits and networks. Her interest in the details of music-making and in the lives of music-makers means that this collection is also an original and illuminating study of music and politics. In drawing on Jan Fairley's journalism, this volume also offers students a guide to various genres of world music from Cuban son to flamenco as well as an insight into the lives of such world music stars as Mercedes Sosa and Silvio Rodríguez. This is inspiring as well as essential reading.

New York, the World's Metropolis, 1623-4--1923-4 William Thompson Bonner, 1925 Music, Difference and the Residue of Race Jo Haynes, 2012-11-12 Race and music seem fatally entwined in a way that involves both creative ethnic hybridity and ongoing problems of racism. This book presents a sociological analysis of this enduring relationship and asks how ideas of race are critical to the understanding of music genres and preferences. What does the love of difference via music contribute to contemporary perspectives of racism? Previous studies of world music have situated it within the dynamics of local/global musical production, the representation of nations and ethnic groups, theories of globalization, hybridization, and cultural appropriation. Haynes adds a conceptual and textual shift to these debates by utilizing world music as a lens for examining cultural imaginaries of race and analytical nuances of racialization. The text offers a view of world music from within, building on original qualitative interview-based research with people from the British world music scene. These interviews provide unique insights into the discursive repertoires that underpin contemporary culture and will make a significant contribution to the mainly theoretical debates about world music.
