Who Owns Learning Questions Of Autonomy Choice And Control:

Who Owns Learning? Curt Dudley-Marling, Dennis Searle, 1995 Clearly ownership cannot mean that teachers withdraw their support for students but how do teachers strike a balance without threatening students personal investment

Resources in Education, 1995 Online Education for Lifelong Learning Inoue, Yukiko, 2007-02-28 Provides theoretical understanding of the link between open and lifelong learning and online distance education Offers a critical discussion of distance open and lifelong learning with a focus on new and emerging challenges of online distance education in global learning communities

Balanced Literacy Instruction Kathryn Hu-Pei Au, Jacquelin H. Carroll, Judith A. Scheu, 2001 After Early Intervention, Then What? Teaching Struggling Readers in Grades 3 and Beyond Rachel L. McCormack, Jeanne R Paratore/IRA, Jeanne R. Paratore, 2005-01-18 For courses in Elementary Reading Methods Literacy in the Elementary School and Literacy Tutoring Even with effective early interventions many students continue to need expert and intensive reading instruction well beyond the primary grade years Now intermediate and middle school educators and pre service teachers have a resource to help them develop instructional strategies for these students The contributors to this volume draw from research and classroom practice as they share strategies that work for readers who continue to struggle in grades 3 8 Readers will learn how to address the needs of children in a range of instructional settings and learning contexts and gain a solid understanding of the current state of knowledge on struggling readers and the multiple pathways they can take to help them succeed

Critical Issues in Special Education Audrey McCray Sorrells, Herbert J. Rieth, Paul T. Sindelar, 2004 This book represents the contributions of prominent researchers teacher educators policy makers teachers and parents on current and emerging issues facing the field of special education and their critical thinking on how to ensure that students with disabilities receive free appropriate education in the least restrictive environment The authors present divergent perspectives on the issues and concerns including a the emergence of more constructivistic instruction approaches that focus increasingly on higher order thinking b new organization structures for administering schools c standards based reform and the use of high stakes testing for evaluating students d the changing population and the increasingly diverse demographics of the students served in the public schools e the onset of the information age and the increasingly visible role of technology in the schools and the workplace f concerns about student discipline and violence in schools g the continuing shortage of qualified and certified special education teachers and h trends in higher education focused on the reform of teacher education such as changing standards for knowledge and skills preparing teachers for changing roles as mentors and changes in the teacher education process that may have precipitated or influenced issues in the field For special education providers such as parents and teachers and for anyone interested in the field of special education

The Politics of School Choice Hubert Morken, Jo Renee Formicola, 1999-09-08 The Politics of School Choice is the first comprehensive examination of diverse efforts to promote tax credits public vouchers private scholarships and charter schools Morken and Formicola provide the most current national report on the burgeoning American school choice movement They analyze the strategies and tactics being used by a wide variety of individuals and organizations to leverage change pass laws win court cases and mobilize community support to build successful winning school choice coalitions Based largely on extensive interviews documentary research and surveys this book covers the spectrum of school choice options and shows how they are being promoted in the United States today It explains who the players are what types of programs they endorse and the various rationales behind them The authors report the views of the entrepreneurs religious leaders heads of think tanks and foundations public litigators scholars activists minority leaders and politicians who are in the forefront of providing parents with resources for educational alternatives Finally Morken and Formicola cover the strengths and weaknesses of the school choice issue concluding that the movement has a wide ranging membership that is uneven in its implementation and that it is taking different forms in various regions of the country As the pace of change accelerates and new school choice programs proliferate this study is a critical resource for all those concerned about the present and future status of American education
